WALL STREET STOCK LIST IRREGULAR; WHEAT UP 9C

Main Trend of Security Market Appears to Be Upward but There Is Intermittent Selling.

CALL MONEY RATE
DOWN TO 8 PER CENT

Steel Trade Reviews Favorable—Views on Technical Position of Market Considered Factor in Trend.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 17.—Call money dropped from 12 to 8 per cent and wheat prices soared 8 to 9 cents a bushel but the stock market still showed signs of irregularity although the main trend appeared to be upward. A widespread belief that the technical position of the market had been strengthened by the rapidity of the recent advance in many issues,
coupled with fears of a large increase in Federal Reserve brokers'
loans this week, brought intermittent selling into the market.

Call Money Easier.
Although call money was distinctly easier, and in much more plentiful supply, yet time money marked continued firm, with some maturities again quoted as high as 8 per cent, as contrasted with 7 1/2 last week. Fresh imports of gold from Argentina were regarded as a bullish development
but this was offset by the increased amount of currency in circulation
as a result of the popularity of the new-sized bills.

There was little in the day's news
to influence the price movement
outside of the sharp rise in grain
prices and the drop in call money.
Trade reviews continued favorable,
and most of the current earnings
reports continued to make excellent comparison with the corresponding period last year.

Steel Trade Reviews Favorable.
Weekly steel trade reviews continued favorable. Iron Age reports that notwithstanding the reduced volume of buying of some steel products, notably cold-rolled strip and some grades of sheet, on which production has caught up with the demand, the steel industry
as a whole has felt no marked curtailment in general consumption.

The Iron Trade Review emphasized the heavy railroad equipment orders placed this week, stating that the Northern has bought 30,000 tons of rails, and the Northern Pacific and Pennsylvania each 10,000 tons.

U. S. Steel Is Down.
Selling pressure was particularly acute against some of the recent favorites such as American Can, U. S. Steel common, Consolidated Gas, Wright Aeronautical and General Electric, the declines in which ran from about 2 to 3 1/2 points. Fox Film fell back sharply on the news that the head of the company had been injured in an automobile accident, but recovered
part of its loss.

Allegiance Corporation, the Van Swearingen Investment Trust, was heavily bought in the late trading,
moving up more than 10 points to a new high record at 52. Great Northern preferred also ran up to a new high level, and Atchison jumped more than 6 points.
Federal Mining & Smelting
jumped 20 points on one sale.
Commercial Solvents ran up to a new high at 42 and eased to 40,
a net gain of 11 1/2 points. Air Reduction closed nine points higher at 179. American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Detroit Edison, Greene Cananea Copper, International Harvester, Montgomery-Ward, Purdy Baking, Simons, Transue Williams Steel and U. S. & Foreign Securities all closed four to seven points higher.
Commodity Prices Spurt.

All leading commodity markets pointed upward. Cotton rallied $2.50 to $3 a bale on reports of low weevil infestation. The sharp rise in wheat was based on a Bul-lish Government weather report
that continued absence of rains
in the Canadian belt. Corn rallied about 2 1/2 cents.

Except for a further rise of nearly half a cent in Japanese yen, there were no changes of interest in the foreign exchange market. Sterling cables held firm around $4.85 1/2-16.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news
will be found on Pages 30, 31, 32 and 33.

JUDGE IMPOSES 30-DAY SENTENCE ON OHIO EDITORS

Their Criticisms of His Racing Case Injunction.

ORDERS BOTH TO JAIL IMMEDIATELY

There They Are Freed on $1000 Bond Each Pending Appeal on Order of a Higher Court.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, July 17.—Louis
B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper and Carlton K. Matson, chief editorial writer, were held in contempt of court by Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther today.
They were sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $500 each.

Judge Walther, who heard the charges brought by himself as a result of an editorial in the Press criticizing his granting of an injunction to racing interests, ordered immediate execution of the sentence. He denied a motion for a stay of execution, saying there was no statute to support it.

Freed Pending Appeal.
Seltzer and Matson obtained a stay of execution by Appellate Judge Willis Vickery. Judge Vickery was reached at his home by Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, and attorney for the editor. Vickery ordered their release under $1000 bond each pending an appeal. The appeal, filed by Baker on grounds of error, will not be heard for six or seven months unless a motion is made to advance it ahead of the regular order. Judge Vickery said Seltzer and Matson were permitted to leave the jail, where they had been formally booked as prisoners.

ROCKET STARTS FOR THE MOON BUT BLOWS UP ON WAY

No One Hurt by Its Premature Bursting in Worcester, Mass., Laboratory.

By the Associated Press.
WORCESTER, Mass., July 17.—
A rocket with which Prof. Robert H. Goddard of Clark University was experimenting in his effort eventually to shoot to the moon, exploded at his experimental station
in an isolated portion of Worcester this afternoon with a reverberation that was heard for miles around. No one was hurt.

The rocket, about nine feet long and about 2 1/2 inches in diameter,
all of metal and filled with powder
charges designed to give it successive thrusts, was shot out of a 40-foot high guiding tower. At a point estimated at 300 feet above ground it exploded with a terrific noise.

ENDURANCE PLANE ON FIFTH DAY AT LAMBERT FIELD; SECOND TAKES OFF

souri Robin" Join Jackson and O'Brien.

'ST. LOUIS' CREW
ENJOYING FLIGHT

Shave Daily, Have a Sponge

of One Disclosed.

Away from the heat and dust of city streets and country highways,
four young men are "counting"
along at a 60-mile-an-hour clip in two airplanes bent on staying aloft
as long as the engines of their trim monoplane continue to function. They are Dale Jackson, Forest O'Brien, Joseph Hammer and W. Gentry Shelton, St. Louis endurance fliers.

Jackson and O'Brien, piloting the "St. Louis Robin," began their fifth day in the air this morning, having left the ground at 7:17 a. m.
Saturday.

Hammer and Shelton took off
at 10:33 a. m. today in the "Missouri Robin," determined to stay up a longer period of time than their friends do.

Close observation of the Jackson-O'Brien expedition discloses that endurance flying is somewhat analogous to flagpole sitting, the principal difference being that the endurance flyer sits and keeps moving, while the flagpole sitter
just sits.

Keeping House in the Air.
Jackson and O'Brien "keep house" in their plane much after the manner of trappers, hermits and other isolated persons. They stand four-hour watches at the controls of the ship. It is not an exciting vigil, however, except in bad weather. Due to the comparatively lazy gallop—for an airplane—at which they are traveling and the use of stabilizers, the pilot
is enabled to fly with his hands off
the controls. Food, pressed on the rudder bar is about all that is required the greater portion of the time.

The man off duty may vary the monotony by a nap on a pneumatic cushion, placed on top of the engine tank. Or he may sit some-more on the cushion with his head sticking out a hole in the top of the cabin. A large cowling deflects
the rush of air over his head.

A Shave and a Bath.
Jackson and O'Brien differ from previous endurance fliers in that they are not seeking to establish any whisker records. Both took shaving kits along and part of the daily routine is a shave. Yesterday they requested water, announcing that a "bath" was to be included in the program. They were supplied with about a gallon of water and are reported to have engaged in vigorous sponging.

The flight has served to disclose
a secret which the 22-year-old Jackson has kept from Lambert field friends for two years. On the first day of the flight a slender blonde took her place among the official watchers, disclosing
that she was Mrs. Sally Jackson and was married to the flyer two years ago.

Due to their inactivity the flyers eat but two meals a day, and have complained that Mrs. O'Brien, who has charge of the commissary
department, is overfeeding them.
Their diet includes soup, fried chicken, various kinds of sandwiches, coffee, milk and water and fruit. Cigars, cigarettes, magazines and newspapers are also lowered
to the plane each day from the refueling ship.

Lady Callers and Others.
The disposal of papers and other waste matter brought up a problem which was solved with the aid of a fishing pole. A large paper bag became lodged on the tail light of the plane. Department of Commerce regulations require that night-flying planes have both tail
and wing lights burning, so the flyers requested that a metal fishing pole be sent up to them in order that they might free the light of its covering.

The wives of the pilots "visited"
their husbands yesterday for the first time since the flight began.
C. Ray Wassall, refueling pilot, who took the young women aloft
in a cabin plane, said, "There was much waving of hands and throwing of kisses." Later in the day
Jackson and O'Brien had other

ORGANIZER IN DYEING TRADE SLAIN; FLUNG INTO AN ALLEY

Edward J. Cole, Alias 'Kid
Acorn,' Shot to Death in Automobile Near Grand
and Pine Boulevards.

KILLED FOR TALKING, IS POLICE THEORY

Divorcee-Fiancee, Held for Questioning, Says He Predicted He Would Be Murdered.

Edward Joseph Cole, alias "Kid Acorn," a labor organizer in the cleaning and dyeing industry, was taken in an auto while yesterday afternoon, shot to death and thrown into an alley a few blocks from the busy Grand-and-Olive intersection.

Investigators think Cole was killed because he was drinking to excess and talking, or threatening to talk, about activities that would not bear the light.

Cole was 33 years old and a painter by trade, known variously as Edward Acorn, Edward Mc-Court and Edward O'Brien. He was scheduled to appear in court today to answer on a bond given in an arson case and another bond for driving an automobile when intoxicated.

Several of his associates in the cleaning industry are sought for questioning. One was arrested in bed at his home early today. He is an official of the "cleaners" association and it is rumored that a plant which was dynamited in 1927,
during the violence which attended efforts to unionize cleaning and dyeing establishments.

Another detained by police, Mrs.
Marie Brannon, 40-year-old divorcee and fiancée of Cole, told police Cole had predicted he would be murdered and had moved last week
from her home so as not to inconvenience her by being killed on the premises. Mr. Brannon has a cleaning shop at 2321 North Fourteenth street and lives at the same address.

Four or Five Men in Car.
At 5:30 p. m. yesterday a closed
car occupied by four or five men
was seen to come south in Channing avenue and turn west into an alley between Laclede avenue and Lawton boulevard. About 60 feet in the alley, shots were fired and Cole, seated next to the driver, slumped in his seat. The men in the back seat leaned forward to keep Cole from falling against the door.

The car continued west to Pine avenue, went north a block to the alley between Lawton and Pine boulevards and turned west in the alley.

In the rear of 3522 Pine, the body was thrown out. One man was seen to get back in the car
after supervising the move. The car
thence south, disappearing in the heavy evening traffic.

Sees Auto and Hears Shots.
Anderson Rogers, watchman at the National Laundry, 3401 Laclede avenue, had seen the car first and heard the shots. Edna Pickford, Negro, 2591A Lawton, saw the killers abandon the body. Blanche Edwards, Negro, 2466 Lawton, and William Maxwell, Negro, 2514A
Pine, also were witnesses.

Cole had been shot twice under the left ear. The wounds were powder-burned. His possessions included 79 cents and a wrist watch.
Finger prints led to his identification. Later Mrs. Brannon viewed the body at the Morgue and confirmed the identification.

Tattooed on one arm were the words "Kid Acorn," with a flag,
shield and acorn for decoration.
The initials "E. A. F." and a bathing girl were tattooed on the other arm. There was an old two-inch scar on the back of his neck.

Associate of "Toots" Clark.
When arrested recently, Cole had said he was a painter, but he had other activities. He was an associate of "Toots" Clark, business agent of the Cleaners' and Dyers'
Union. He had lived in Chicago, Detroit and Tulsa before coming to St. Louis last year.

He told me he was an investigator and organizer for the American Federation of Labor," Mrs.
Brannon related to police. "When he was drinking he said he expected to get bumped off, but he never said who was going to kill him or
why. A week ago he moved from my house, explaining he did not want to get bumped off there."

Mrs. Brannon said she last saw Cole on Sunday at Grand boulevard

State Examiner in Charge.
E. P. Jackson, State examiner, has been here since Monday checking up on conditions.

The board of directors of the Citizens Bank Trust, at a meeting early today, issued a statement explaining conditions as
due to "unwise gossip and continued adverse conditions following the appearance of the Mediterranean fruit fly, which was responsible for a feeling of unrest
and fear developed on the part of the people."

A consignment of $1,000,000 from the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta to the First National Bank of Tampa arrived here shortly after noon by airplane from Jacksonville.

Meanwhile other banks in the city reported numbers of small de-positors withdrawing their funds,
but officials said there was plenty of cash on hand to meet their demands.

Directors of the Citizens Bank
later issued a statement saying that reorganization plans for that institution were under way.

Total deposits in the Tampa banks involved was $17,347,965.15,
of which the Citizens Bank & Trust held $13,695,870.78.

Paid in capital of the Citizens

published statements. The Lafayette Bank had paid in capital of $150,000 with deposits of $457,222.

HEAT WAVE COVERS ENGLAND

Water Supplies Run Low, Beach Resorts Are Crowded.

LONDON, July 17.—Despite hot showers, England still sizzled
today under a heat wave of unusual intensity. Water supplies are running low and the ministry of health has issued a warning that water should be used with discretion. The temperature touched 89
with a normal capacity of 22,000, 000 gallons is reported virtually empty.

Along the woodland paths of Kew Gardens, where the Londoner loves to wander among the flow-

WILLIAM FOX HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT; CHAUFFEUR KILLED

Movie Magnate Taken to Hospital at Mineola, N. Y.—Injuries Reported to Be Grave.

By the Associated Press.
OLD WESTBURY, N. Y., July 17.—William Fox, theatrical and moving picture magnate, and a chauffeur were injured, and the chauffeur was killed today in a collision between the Fox automobile and another car in which three women were riding. The women were uninjured.

The collision occurred at an intersection. Joseph Boyes, Fox's chauffeur, was killed when the car he was driving upset. Fox and a friend, J. L. Rubinstein, were taken to the Nassau County Hospital at Mineola.

Dr. William M. Post of East Williston, who attended Fox at the Nassau County Hospital, said the producer was in a grave condition.
Mr. Fox he said, is suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain and his face is a mass of cuts and bruises.
He also has a possible fracture of the skull.

The car in which the women were riding was driven by Miss Dorothy Kane of New York City.
It remained upright. Miss Kane and her two sisters who were with her were taken to headquarters of the Nassau County police in Mineola for questioning.

Rubinstein is secretary and treasurer of the Mammoth Worsted
Co. of New York. He was released from the hospital after his injuries were treated.

Miss Kane was accompanied in her car by her two sisters, Agatha and Dorothy. All three were questioned by county detectives.

Fox and Rubinstein were on their way from Fox's home in Woodbury, L. I., to the Engineer's Club to play golf. Their car was going north on the Roslyn road
when at the intersection of the Sealingtown road the other automobile, eastbound, shot out and struck the Fox machine.

Boyes' head was crushed in the wreckage. Rubinstein's injuries included a bruised knee and ribs.
Fox was said to be suffering severely from shock and also from loss of blood. In mid-afternoon it seemed probable that a blood transfusion operation would have to be resorted to. It was 15 minutes before a physician could be found after Fox reached the hospital.

Detectives said that in questioning Dorothy Kane it developed that she had no driver's license.
She was held pending outcome
of tests.

POINCARÉ, ILL AT HOME, WINS AGAIN IN VOTE ON DEBT

Fight for Ratification of Agreement With United States Seems to Be Won in Chamber of Deputies.

BRIAND DENIES "SHYLOCK" CHARGE

Foreign Minister, Eloquent Recalling War Days, Says Heart of France Beats in Gratitude.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 17.—While Premier Poincaré was confined to his bed today by exhaustion from his strenuous efforts on behalf of the debt accords with America and Great Britain, the French Chamber of Deputies gave him a second vote of confidence, 350 to 238.

The vote came on the resolution of the Socialist Deputy Blum seeking subordination of the adoption of the Young plan to immediate evacuation of the Rhineland. The resolution was posed for a confidence vote by Vice Premier Louis Barthou, who thus took another opportunity to emphasize the Government's victory of yesterday.

Expected to Return Friday. While the vote was being taken it was noted around that the Premier's physician had found a slight feverish condition, but said he was not in the least gravely ill. He prescribed 24 hours of complete rest and Barthou said he expected Poincaré back in the chamber on Friday.

The Government's majority in today's vote was nearly double that of last night and was significant because the opposition had one fewer vote than yesterday, while the additional deputies present all stood by the Government. The fact was that the test of strength came last night. The Premier won his fight, and the remainder of the discussion, it seemed, would be largely for the impression of constituents.

Deputies Blum and Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister, during the morning session said they won their thing in different ways. Both agreed they wanted peace in Europe and ought to have friendly relations with Germany, but M. Briand balked at handing over the Rhineland before the subject was even discussed at the forthcoming conference on adjustment of the Young plan.

Briand Makes Eloquent Plea. During the debate yesterday the eloquence of Briand led Franklin D. Roosevelt to withdraw a motion for postponement of ratification until the Young plan becomes operative. Briand made one of the most eloquent speeches ever heard in the chamber. The orator easily frustrated the attempted play of the emotional Bouillon, who suddenly arose and shouted, "I withdraw my motion."

Briand denied that America was a "Shylock."

"I had," he shouted dramatically, "the formidable honor of being head of the Government when the Americans entered the war. I know whereof I speak."

"The enemy was in the suburbs of Verdun. Those were hours of anguish. No one then believed that victory would perch upon our flags."

The Chamber listened in silence as his eloquence rose to a climax. "In that desperate moment we called upon the men of the United States for our just cause. How bitter may be our internal debates in this painful discussion I can hear the heart of France beating in gratitude to America. 'I am saying these words so that the people across the seas may know that there are some moments Frenchmen will never forget. I am repeating them because if ever in the future the terrible hardships which we have weathered should again strike our country and France again need the assistance of her friends, the latter should not be able to say, 'We cannot expose ourselves to ingratitude.'"

The entire Chamber arose to its feet and cheered as Bouillon withdrew his motion.

Held on Employer's Charge. Arthur Koenniker, a chauffeur, of 4200 North Twentieth street, was arrested last night on the request of his employer, Fred Brittan, head of a drayage firm at 216 North Eighth street, who charged Koenniker with a truckload of groceries valued at $500.

their noses on recognizing the visitors. Both men appeared in excellent condition and declared their intention of staying up indefinitely. Their only complaint so far was that their legs became tired the first day.

How Ship Is Refueled.

The lazy "sky coasting" is varied twice daily when the refueling plane makes contact. The technique of refueling in the air is as follows:

The refueler, carrying 120 gallons of gasoline, goes aloft with C. Ray Wassall, former commander of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service, at the controls. The cockpit in which Wassall sits has a glass bottom, permitting direct visibility downward. Wassall's assistant, P. V. Chaffee, takes his place in a specially constructed cockpit behind the fuel tank. The refueling plane flies ahead of the endurance plane, setting a straight course, which Wassall maintains. The endurance plane maneuvers to one side and slips beneath the other ship. Chaffee lowers the 40-foot hose to the outstretched hands of the man in the aft cockpit of the endurance ship and the contact is made.

The transfer of the 120 gallons of gasoline from one plane to the other through the inch and a half hose requires but four minutes, but they are interesting four minutes. Due to the loop in the hose, caused by the propeller blast, the planes are but 25 feet apart. As the lead is transferred the top plane has a tendency to rise, while the lower plane becomes tall heavy and settles. A fine sense of judgment on the controls is necessary to counteract the action of the two ships.

Rope Sometimes Burns Hands.

The lowering of oil, in a five-gallon tin, and the passing down of food in a weighted container also requires expert handling. Chaffee has burned his hands on the rope several times in successful efforts to prevent the heavy, projectile-like containers from crashing through the wing or fuselage of the lower plane. The man on the receiving end makes a "football" catch of the food and oil containers, which are immediately emptied and attached to the rope again to be drawn upward. During all these operations Wassall sees only the nose of the ship below, guiding his ship accordingly.

Jackson learned to fly at Lambert Field several years ago and was an instructor for the Von Hoffmann Flying School before becoming exhibition pilot for Curtiss Flying Service last year. He established a record of 417 barrel-rolls in a Robin monoplane at Lambert Field last fall. A barrel-roll is a complete revolution of a plane, wing over wing, while maintaining forward speed.

O'Brien, who is 25 years old, has been flying for five years. He was with the Universal Flying School here for a short time last year before becoming test pilot for the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Co., makers of the two endurance planes. The planes are stock models with six-cylinder radial Challenger engines, especially equipped for the present flights. To the observer the exhaust of the engine gives the impression that the engine is "missing." This is caused by the use of separate exhaust stacks on each cylinder.

So that the planes can be distinguished the "Missouri Robin" has two large white circles on the under surface of the wing and white squares on the side of the fuselage.

The second plane, which took off this morning had Joe Hammer, air mail pilot, at the controls, and W. Gentry Shelton, flying enthusiast, as his companion. They will establish a routine similar to that established by their friendly rivals. Sealed barographs in the plane will record any contact with the ground, permitting the flyers to leave the view of watchers at the

TRANSPORT SINKS IN HEAVY SEAS; 41 CHILEANS MISSING

Only Two Members of Crew Rescued After Foundering of Abtao Off Port of Valparaiso.

By the Associated Press.

VALPARAISO, Chile, July 17.—Forty-one men, officers and members of the crew of the Chilean transport Abtao, were missing today—apparently drowned—after the sinking of the ship yesterday off this port in one of the most violent storms experienced here in years.

Two of the crew were saved. At noon the transport sent a radio appeal for help which was answered by three boats, the Flora, the Antarctic and the Imperial. The Imperial picked up Boatman's Mate Enrique Aranda and the Antarctic Seafran Francisco Miranda. Two destroyers, arriving at the location given by the ship in its distress signal, found several bodies among wreckage from the ship. It did not appear likely that there were any survivors as yet unreported.

$6000 FIRE DAMAGE IN FLAT BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Two Structures Adjacent to 4454 Floriss Place Slightly Damaged by Blaze.

Fire of undetermined origin caused $6000 damage to a flat building under construction at 4454 Floriss place and spread to two adjacent buildings early last night. The flat building was being constructed by Chris Spoeneman, contractor of 4142 Farlin avenue, for Daniel Lenhardt, 3614 North Taylor avenue. Although a neighbor, who turned in the alarm at 7:30 o'clock, reported he saw two men leave the building and drive away in an automobile a short time before, Lenhardt thinks the fire was accidental. No labor trouble had been experienced.

Reaching a residence at 4446 Floriss, the flames damaged the building $350, and caused a $150 loss at 4456 Floriss.

VICTOR L. BERGER SERIOUSLY HURT BY STREET CAR

Socialist Leader and Former Congressman Suffers a Fractured Skull in Accident at Milwaukee.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 17.—Rallying briefly from the coma in which he has lain since he was struck by a street car last night, Victor L. Berger, national Socialist leader and former Congressman, early today gave physicians hope that he might recover despite his serious injuries.

Berger, publisher of the Milwaukee Leader, is suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull and other injuries. Two doctors have remained at his bedside at Emergency Hospital almost constantly since the accident. The physicians last night were pessimistic in their reports, stating that Berger's 69 years and his rather weak constitution were against his recovery.

Keeping watch with the doctors at the bedside through the night were Berger's wife, and his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Welles, as well as several friends and business associates.

Berger was hit while walking from the office of his newspaper to his home. Witnesses said he apparently became confused in the traffic and after dodging several automobiles seemed not to see the oncoming street car. Although it was not moving fast, it threw him violently to the pavement.

CITY JOB, VACATED BY GORDON, LIKELY TO REMAIN OPEN

Steininger Indicates Office Employees Will Carry on Tasks of Resigned Smoke Commissioner.

By the Associated Press.

No successor to Robert R. Gordon as city Smoke Commissioner is likely to be named, following the acceptance of Gordon's resignation by his departmental superior, Director of Public Safety Steininger. The resignations of Gordon, of George K. Reno, chief inspector of boilers and elevators; of T. T. Hamilton, deputy smoke commissioner; and of Frank Altman and J. J. Kellogg of the city Engineers' Examining Board, were accepted yesterday afternoon, following their indictment on charges of misconduct in office.

The charges, as has been told, resulted from the operations of Gordon's coaching school for applicants for licenses as stationary engineers.

Director Steininger said today that he had not decided to fill any of the vacancies permanently, but that other employees of the department would do the work of the absent men. Gordon and the others have announced that they will ask for an early trial, and Steininger said that if they should be exonerated of the charges, he probably would reinstate them.

The resignations of all five men, and of other employees of the department, were placed in Steininger's hands when he took charge in May, to give him a free hand in making any change he might desire. The director talked with all the indicted men yesterday, before announcing his acceptance of the resignations.

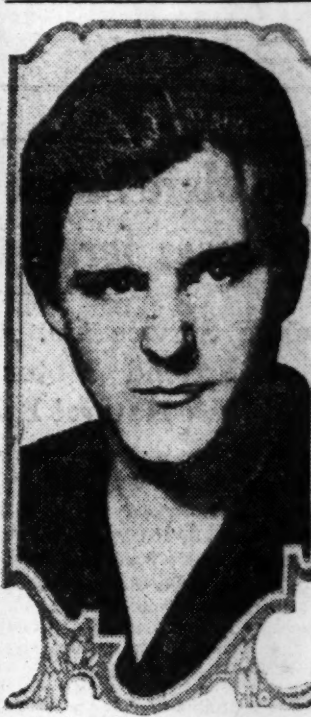

The Smoke Commissioner's office is of unusual public importance because of the smoke abatement campaign, dealing with a problem which becomes acute every fall and winter. Gordon has held the position since the beginning of 1925. In that time, according to official reports and general observation, perceptible progress has been made in lessening the smoke nuisance, but much more must be done before the campaign can be considered a success.

The indicted men gave bonds of $1000 each before Circuit Judge Hogan today, with the exception of Kellogg, whose bond was delayed by a mistake in his name on the bench warrant. His brother, C. E. Kellogg, was ready to sign his bond. Gordon's bond was signed by Oscar R. Buder, attorney.

Frank Mann, Negro professional bondsman, signed the bond of Reno, who is Republican city committeeman for the Twenty-third Ward. Henry Berger, second Ward committeeman, signed for Hamilton and Altman.

NEGRO MAIL CARRIER ADMITS TAKING MONEY FROM LETTERS

Walter B. Frazier, Arrested, Says He Begun Theft Last September.

A Federal warrant charging rifling of the mails was issued against Walter B. Frazier, 27 years old, a Negro letter carrier, 2515 Goode avenue, following his arrest yesterday by police and post-office inspectors.

Frazier waived preliminary hearing and admitted, inspectors said, that since last September he had been taking small amounts in cash which had been remitted by residents of the Sarah-Easton district to furniture installment concerns. Frazier related, according to the inspectors, that in collecting from the mail boxes, he would select fat envelopes containing the receipt books of furniture concerns, and remove the inclosed cash, generally $2 to $5. The concerns and their creditors reported frequent losses, but Frazier did not know how much he had taken. He had been a postal employee for three years.

JURY FINDS WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSED HOTEL GUEST'S DEATH

Physician Testifies at Inquest Found Poison in Cleveland Man's Room.

The death of John M. Poulton, 54-year-old drifter of Cleveland, O., Monday at Missouri Bay Hospital, was due to wood alcohol poisoning, a Coroner's jury decided today.

Poulton, who was registered at the American Annex Hotel, came ill Sunday and was removed to the hospital. Dr. William Hansen, a physician with office in the Arcade Building, said he was summoned to Poulton's room and found the man unconscious. A bottle in the room contained a few drops of what Dr. Hansen described as "bad whiskey." Chemical examination disclosed a fatal quantity of wood alcohol.

E. J. Hanratty from interfering with use of the "contributions" term of betting at the race track, "proving it was not illegal." The Sheriff ignored the order, arrested three men and closed the track after only one day of the scheduled 32-day meet had been held. The men arrested were acquitted of gambling charges in a Justice of the Peace Court, but the Sheriff said, he would continue to make arrests and the meet was subsequently canceled yesterday.

The editorial, headed "This Is Contempt of Court," and in later editions revised and headed "Certainly Is Dreadful," criticized Judge Walther for interfering with the Sheriff's efforts to stamp out betting and termed his order "either monstrous or ridiculous." The jurist explained in a written statement that he had made the order effective only if the "contribution" scheme were illegal and had not interfered with the Sheriff's duty. He asserted the editorial was "contemptuous and libelous." Baker, however, took the stand that there was no contempt in the editorial, argued that the injunction did not constitute a judicial order and asserted the jurist had been made the tool of interests seeking to bring betting back to Cuyahoga County.

The Right to Criticize.

The strength of America's government, the former Secretary of War declared, was found in that "citizens may criticize their officials to their heart's content without their criticism interfering with their performance of duty and administration of justice." He went on to charge Judge Walther with violating a rule of the court in granting the injunction without first informing Sheriff Hanratty of it. The Sheriff had started for the track with 15 deputies when the order was issued. Baker's arguments for dismissal followed Judge Walther's overruling his motion to drop all charges with argument. Citing the alleged agreement with Chief Kaiser's informant, after reports of King's disappearance were given out by Sheriff Flanagan and published, Bennett departed for Florida.

The informer, acting under instructions, has related that he returned to Bennett's office in the Wainwright Building after the reported disappearance of King and told him he had killed King. As proof, he said, he gave the lawyer King's pocketbook, lodge ring and other personal effects, which he received as part of the plan to trap Bennett, and that the latter retained these things.

Air of Prosperous Citizens.

Bennett is known at the St. Louis bar as a lawyer who divides his time between a limited practice and looking after his real estate investments. He is about middle age, dresses well and has the air of a prosperous citizen.

Member of a prominent and once wealthy Franklin County, (Ill.) family, Bennett served a year in the air service during the war, was graduated from Washington University in 1921, and in 1925 married Mrs. Anna M. Atkins, widow of Dr. H. S. Atkins, former Superintendent of the City Sanitarium.

Commodore Bennett, a former dentist and brother of R. Shad Bennett, recently was arrested and confined in the East St. Louis Jail by Federal narcotics agents for possession of narcotics and dispensing them to himself. He demanded to know who gave the information against him and was told by District Attorney Byrke that his brother, R. Shad Bennett, had started the investigation of his use of drugs through a narcotic agent. R. Shad Bennett later furnished bond for his brother.

LAWYER ACCUSED OF MURDER PLOT SOUGHT IN SOUTH

R. Shad Bennett Said to Have Put in Telephone Call From Coral Gables, Fla., to St. Louis.

PRESUMABLY ON BUSINESS MISSION

Attorney Charged With Conspiracy to Kill West Frankfort (Ill.) Bankrupt for His Insurance.

Search of the resort towns of Florida is being made for R. Shad Bennett, wealthy St. Louis lawyer, wanted at Murphysboro, Ill., on a warrant charging him with a conspiracy to murder Owen King, bankrupt West Frankfort meat dealer, on whose life Bennett holds two policies for $15,000 as part security for a $20,000 debt. Bennett, who lives in a pretentious residence at 4206 McPherson avenue, Parkview, departed Saturday with his wife for Florida, presumably on a business mission, and was reported to have been in Miami Beach on night, when he is said to have put in a long distance telephone call from Coral Gables, a suburb of Miami, to St. Louis. Miami police could not locate him, but are continuing the search. West Palm Beach officers were notified by Miami authorities to be on the lookout for Bennett, it having been reported a man of his description was seen in that town. Bennett was in Miami three months ago negotiating with the Coral Gables Corporation on a realty deal.

Last Saturday morning Bennett appeared before Judge Holtcamp in Probate Court in connection with will case. He told the court he would depart for Florida that night. At his home a housemaid said Mr. and Mrs. Bennett had gone to Florida for "a week or 10 days."

How Plot Was Disclosed.

As has been told the warrant was issued Monday by a Justice of the Peace at Carbondale on complaint of King after an informant of Chief of Detectives Kaiser of St. Louis had related that he sought to employ him to kill King. Chief Kaiser notified Sheriff Flanagan and State's Attorney Lewis at Murphysboro of the alleged plot. Chief Kaiser's informant said Bennett had been in St. Louis for a week and was killed and $1000 after the insurance was paid and that Bennett had paid him $210 on account.

King joined the officers in a plan to trap Bennett and "disappeared," leaving his automobile on a lonely road near Murphysboro to make it appear the alleged plot against his life had been successful. So Bennett would apply for the insurance and go through with the alleged agreement with Chief Kaiser's informant. After reports of King's disappearance were given out by Sheriff Flanagan and published, Bennett departed for Florida.

The informer, acting under instructions, has related that he returned to Bennett's office in the Wainwright Building after the reported disappearance of King and told him he had killed King. As proof, he said, he gave the lawyer King's pocketbook, lodge ring and other personal effects, which he received as part of the plan to trap Bennett, and that the latter retained these things.

EX-JUDGE PRIEST IS BIGGEST LOSER IN IRMA OIL CO.

Says That if He Could Sell His Holdings in Concern for $50,000 He Still Would Be Short.

ASSERTS VENTURE WAS 'CONTINUOUS DRAIN'

Book Value of Assets Listed at $555,307, Liabilities $320,507 in the Bankrupt Firm.

Former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest is the big loser in the failure of the Irma Oil Co., which recently filed voluntary bankruptcy proceedings in Federal Court.

"If I could sell my holdings for $50,000, I'd consider myself lucky, and I'd be taking a great loss at that," he said today. He declined to give a more definite estimate of his loss.

As president, treasurer and chief stockholder in the firm, Judge Priest filed the bankruptcy proceedings and was appointed receiver by Federal Judge Davis. Yesterday he filed schedules showing assets of $555,307 and liabilities of $320,507, the apparent discrepancy being explained by a comment which said that the firm operated at a loss due to the low market price of oil and that the listed value of the properties were the book, not actual, values.

"A Continuous Drain."
"The thing was a continuous drain on me," said Priest. "James J. O'Brien, an attorney, invited me to join him in an oil project in Nevada County, in Southwestern Arkansas, a couple of years ago. For $25,000 I was to get six-twentieths of the profits and was assured that dividends would be forthcoming very soon. Later adjoining leases were obtained and I turned over $11,300 more."

"The wells produced all right, but I was never able to get an accounting of how things stood. No dividends were paid and every now and then I had to put more money into it for payrolls and other expenses. Eventually, we had trustees appointed and formed the Irma Oil Co. By this time I held a controlling interest. Since it was obvious that the project could not be continued successfully, I filed bankruptcy proceedings."

Suits for Accounting.
A suit pending in Circuit Court against O'Brien for accounting states that more than $300,000 worth of oil was sold and the accounts concealed.

The oil properties of the company are now inoperative and about 50,000 barrels of crude oil are on hand. The largest of the items listed among the assets are real estate $271,234 and machinery and tools $265,452. Among the liabilities are secured claims of $205,752 and unsecured claims of $104,740.

O'Brien is out of the city.

ADMITS HE KILLED HIS COMPANION IN AUTO, ROBBED HIM

James S. Abrams of Knoxville, Tenn., Confesses He Shot Driver While on Way to Roanoke, Va.

By the Associated Press.

ROANOKE, Va., July 17.—A man who gave his name as James S. Abrams, 25 years old, of Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday confessed to police that he shot and killed E. H. Abbott of New York as the two were entering this city by automobile. Prosecuting Attorney R. K. Spiller announced.

Abrams, who was quoted as saying robbery was the motive, is alleged to have taken $12.50 and a wrist watch from Abbott, who was about 65 years old.

Police said Abbott was driving the automobile, and that Abrams placed a revolver at the former's side and fired. The machine, it was said, swerved and ran about 100 feet and crashed into a ditch.

Two workmen nearby rushed to the scene just as Abrams was emerging from the ditched automobile. The wrist watch, police said, was found concealed under his arm.

MYSTERY PLANE IN ARCTIC

Radio Messages Report German Machine on Way to Iceland.

LONDON, July 17.—The possibility of a "mystery flight" by a German plane in the Arctic was suggested today in radio messages picked up by the Wick station.

One message from the Thorshaven radio station in the Faroe Islands read: "The German plane. It is passing on the way to Reykjavik (Iceland)."

Later the Wick station picked up another Thorshaven message saying: "The plane is at present at Tveraa, awaiting improvement in weather conditions."

Other messages indicated that the plane referred to was a German one bearing the identification number D-1422, which was heard using its radio this morning.

URGES NO TAX ON CANADIAN WHEAT MILLED IN U. S.

John Pillsbury Tells Senate Committee American Industry Is Unaffected by Practice.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Senate Finance Committee today heard further testimony in opposition to the new provision in the House tariff bill subjecting Canadian wheat, milled in bond in this country for export to countries granting flour made from American wheat preferential duties, to a tariff equal to such preference.

Such wheat intended for export to Cuba would pay a 30 per cent duty under the new provision, or about 35 cents a barrel.

John Pillsbury, of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Co. of Minneapolis, with plants in Buffalo, declared the change would mean that Cuba would buy direct from Canada the flour it now purchases from American millers. He declared there could be no basis for opposition to the general principle of milling in bond among domestic millers, because not one barrel of flour made from the Canadian product entered domestic markets.

Cuba Desires Canadian Flour.
He contended the Canadian wheat flour was especially desired by bakers in Cuba and that it was impracticable to export flour from high protein American wheat because such wheat could be sold entirely in domestic markets at prices above the world level.

Pillsbury testified that his company was prompted to establish mills in Buffalo to take care of its export business in Canada manufactured wheat after a long struggle to secure the export trade in flour from American wheat had failed. He said a threat of Canada placing an export tax on wheat entering the United States for milling in bond constantly was facing his and other companies.

Asked by Senator Bingham (Rep., Connecticut), if his buffalo mill could not be moved across the border and mill Canadian wheat with cheaper labor, Pillsbury said it could but it represented an investment of $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 and if moved the American employees would move with it at their same wages.

The witness said the only American millers favoring the change in law were a few in the Southwest. As an owner himself of mills in Kansas and Oklahoma, he said the advantage in the Cuban market these millers believe they would get would be practically none.

Preliminary tabulation of the House tariff bill's ad valorem duties, which are based on foreign valuation of imported articles, and their equivalents when based on the United States value, is being undertaken by the Tariff Commission at the suggestion of Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania.

Should the work be completed in time, the Senator plans to submit the proposition to the Finance Committee, of which he is a member.

The United States value method is in the existing law and is retained in the House bill, but it is permitted to be used only when foreign valuations are not ascertainable. Should the Finance Committee adopt the United States value as the primary basis for assessing ad valorem duties, all of the rates probably would have to be reduced because of the higher valuation used, provided no deductions for profit and other expenses, which is in the law today, were made.

With deductions, the United States value becomes more nearly the foreign value. The latter is becoming more difficult to obtain each year because of the unwillingness of foreign manufacturers to open their cost books to American agents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HANNIBAL, Mo., July 17.—A proposal for government aid has been submitted to the directors of the Marion County levee district, north of Hannibal, a portion of which was heavily damaged last fall and again in the floods of the past spring. The directors met a few days ago and considered the suggestions of army engineers but deferred action. The board asked the engineers to submit their proposition for aid in repairing the broken dike, in more minute details.

FIRE DESTROYS YACHT OF JAMES A. STILLMAN

Mate Thought to Have Been Burned to Death—Blaze Starts With Explosion.

By the Associated Press.

GLEN COVE, N. Y., July 17.—

The luxurious yacht of James A. Stillman, the Wenonah II, burned to the water's edge in Hempstead Harbor yesterday, after an explosion in which one member of the crew was thought to have been burned to death. He is the only one of the nine members of the crew who has not been accounted for. The explosion occurred while the vessel was about a quart of a mile off shore and just after it had been refueled with gasoline. William Uhle of Newport, R. I., second engineer, is thought to have caused the explosion while attempting to charge a battery below deck. Uhle came rushing up from below immediately after the blast, bleeding and his clothing ablaze. He was taken to a hospital.

former New York banker was on board.

Charles Knutson, the mate, is thought to have been burned to death. He is the only one of the nine members of the crew who has not been accounted for. The explosion occurred while the vessel was about a quart of a mile off shore and just after it had been refueled with gasoline. William Uhle of Newport, R. I., second engineer, is thought to have caused the explosion while attempting to charge a battery below deck. Uhle came rushing up from below immediately after the blast, bleeding and his clothing ablaze. He was taken to a hospital.

The flames spread rapidly and the crew, directed by Capt. Edward Wahvert, took to the launch.

Built in 1920, the Wenonah was first named the Modesty. Stillman renamed it when he purchased it a few years ago. It was valued at more than $250,000.

URGES BUILDING OF ADDITIONS TO CITY SANITARIUM

Dr. E. J. Lee Jr., Former Superintendent, in Report Proposes Two New Five-Story Wings.

COMMISSIONER FINDS STAFF IS UNTRAINED

Dr. C. H. Lohr Also Favors Better Kitchen Facilities—Improvements Already Made Are Cited.

With more than 3200 mentally-afflicted patients crowded into quarters which were designed and built for only 2400, the City Sanitarium operates with a staff of seven physicians and 400 employees, at an average per capita cost of 62 cents a day.

Except for the seven physicians, the patients are in the care of attendants who, with few exceptions, have little education and no special training in the work in which they are engaged. Although hundreds of operations are performed each year, the institution has not one graduate nurse.

Kitchen equipment is so inadequate that it is impossible to provide properly heated food to patients in outlying wings of the sanitarium group. "The cupola on the main building, which survived the 1927 tornado, is a source of constant danger in case of fire, earthquake or another tornado.

This situation is disclosed in the annual reports of Dr. E. J. Lee Jr., until recently superintendent of the sanitarium, and Dr. Curtis H. Lohr, Hospital Commissioner, who supervises all municipal hospitals. Appropriations for additional facilities for patients and staff and a larger personnel are sought.

Dr. Lee, in his detailed report, stated that during the year residents of virtually every State in the Union visited the institution, while friends and relatives averaged 8000 visits a month or 96,000 visits a year. "It is indeed surprising that the public remains as well satisfied as it does," he concluded.

Would Provide Laboratory. The construction of two new five-story wings to house male and female patients, respectively, and to provide space for a modern hospital laboratory is recommended by Dr. Lee, as well as increased salaries for physicians, the employment of at least two graduate nurses, extensive changes in plumbing facilities, and the installation of a bake shop and additional kitchens.

Dr. Lee explained that all food is now prepared in one main kitchen and transported by truck in aluminum containers to outlying wings. "It is impossible," he declared, "to keep the food hot and in condition to be properly served when it is necessary to transport it over such a distance. If unit kitchens were placed in the J and E wings, it would result in economy of labor and food and would provide a better diet for patients."

Dr. Lohr also emphasized the need for additional quarters for patients and recommended the immediate purchase of 50 acres of sparsely settled land to the south and west of the sanitarium. If this purchase is delayed five years, he declared, the property will be built up with home and expansion of the sanitarium, Isolation Hospital and Infirmary beyond their present bounds will be impossible. The construction of a physician's apartment building also is recommended in order that well-qualified neuropsychiatrists may be attracted to employment at the sanitarium.

"The physician who has decided on institutional work for his career will naturally choose the position which affords the best inducements," Dr. Lohr said. "While our salaries are considerably below the scale paid elsewhere, I am sure that this would be overlooked if we could offer prospective applicants attractive quarters for themselves and families."

"Attendants Poorly Trained." Of the sanitarium attendants, Dr. Lohr said: "The proper care and direction of patients in an institution of this kind is a formidable problem when it is recalled that most of the custodial care is rendered not by trained physicians, but by more or less untrained male and female attendants. The majority of the applicants have had very little schooling and have had no special training in the work in which they are engaged."

"I deem it advisable that a definite effort be made to prepare new attendants for their work by teaching them the fundamentals of the normal as well as the abnormal mind and by laying particular emphasis on the accepted and proper methods in the management and treatment of insane patients. A training school for attendants should be established at the sanitarium and a regular course of theoretical and practical instruction should be given."

Dr. Lohr also declared that the kitchen and storeroom facilities are inadequate and commented on the meager salaries of kitchen employees. "For example," he said, "the chef who plans, directs and supervises the preparing of more than 10,000 meals a day, receives $120 a month. It is obvious that anyone who can handle such a task efficiently is worth much more than the amount allowed, and it follows also that the man who is content with such a salary is, in all likelihood, not as efficient and capable as he might be."

On the side of progress, Dr. Lohr called attention to the fact that fireproofing of the Sanitarium buildings would be completed this year and that the entire institution has been weather-stripped, reducing the power bill by $1500 a month and adding considerably to the winter comfort of patients. "Beauty Shop a Benefit."

Another improvement, which has proved a valuable help in the care and treatment of female patients, is the beauty shop. "The establishment of this shop," Dr. Lee reports, "has not only resulted in more sanitary conditions but has reawakened the pride and self-confidence and interest in personal appearance of a great many women patients to such an extent that their interest in living has been revived, and will lead to patients' evincing an interest and a desire for employment and rehabilitation."

The superintendent's report, for the year ended April 10, contained these statistics: Daily average number of patients, 3171; death rate, 7.98 per cent; cost of operation, $598,079; number of patients admitted, 774; number of patients discharged, 330; number of deaths, 311. On April 1, the sanitarium housed 3194 patients, of which 1551 were men and 1643 were women. On the previous April 1 the population was 3120.

CITY AND SUBURBS FEDERATION URGED BY PLAN EXPERT

Prof. Thomas H. Reed Says
Old Units of Government
No Longer Suffice for Metropolitan Areas.

ANNEXATION ALSO IS UNSATISFACTORY

Political Scientist, Who Is Working on Greater St.
Louis Project, Speaks at Buffalo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 17.—"The fact that since the days of King Canute we have known of only three units of local government—the county, the town or township,
and the city—is no reason why we should not discover some method
of adjusting units of local government to actual conditions now.
Canute had never seen a paved highway, an automobile, an interurban railway, a telephone, a rural delivery route or an airplane."
This declaration in support of his idea of a new regional unit of government for metropolitan centers was made by Thomas H. Reed, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, who is drafting a scheme of municipal expansion for the St. Louis City and County Metropolitan Development Committee, before the Buffalo Institute of Municipal Affairs and Kiwanis Club today. He insisted there was no reason for people to stand in awe of existing city or county boundaries, but rather they should change them as needed.

Wide Extent of Cities.
Referring to "metropolitanism"
as "the term commonly used to describe the group of phenomena which grow out of the fact that the political city on the one hand
and the economic and social city
on the other no longer even roughly correspond," Reed said that the real Buffalo extended all over the Niagara region on either side of the international boundary. The same condition of growth beyond political boundaries is true of many other large cities, he went on, the cause being improvement in the means of transportation, especially the automobile and paved highways. He continued:

"These surrounding regions are filling up with former city dwellers who demand urban services
and whose presence and demands create vast new problems of government. The city planners were the first to realize the new situation.
They began to talk about regional plans long before students of municipal administration began to talk about regional government. I think it is perfectly clear, however,
that one cannot have regional plans
carried out without regional governments to do it. In every region there are not only problems
of planning but problems of transportation, traffic, police and health,
etc., which require common treatment for their satisfactory solution."

Three Methods of Solution.
"There are three methods of solution. Annexation worked fairly well as long as it was merely a matter of taking over a little territory on the edge of the existing city. As a means of suddenly taking in vast stretches of country with many municipalities, some of them
with years of independent history behind them, it has practically broken down."

"The second solution is by the creation of special districts for the purpose of solving a particular problem. This has been the solution most often offered. It is the line of least resistance, but it has one fatal defect—it increases the number of existing units of government and complicates rather than simplifies the already too complicated governmental situation. Some of the special districts which have been created, such as the metropolitan commission in Massachusetts, have produced admirable results in their particular fields, but they do not offer a permanent solution of the problem."

"The third method is the establishment of a new unit of government and a readjustment of the local governments' relationships within it. Where, as in the case of Pittsburg, the great city is situated in the geographical center of a single county which contains most of the metropolitan population, it is comparatively simple to take over,
as we propose to do, the county government, giving it the name of the Greater City and leaving the existing units in control of all three matters which the metropolitan necessities of the situation do not require to be assigned to the greater city government."

"This is the so-called federated city plan. It is much more practical than out-and-out annexation,
both because it avoids to a considerable degree the resistance of the outside communities and because it does not necessitate the extension of the more intimate, and in the aggregate, more costly services of municipal government to all portions of the area, irrespective of their development."
Reed pointed out that St. Louis County has more than 200 square miles of "absolutely rural" territory, which no city could afford to supply with streets, sewers and some other facilities.

BRIAND DEEMS YOUNG PLAN NOT ENOUGH TO BRING PEACE

Agreement of More General Nature
Among States of Europe Needed, He Declares.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 17.—Foreign Minister Briand, referring in parliamentary debate last night to his plan which has been styled "A United States of Europe," said
peace would not come out of the forthcoming conference of Governments on the Young plan alone, but must result from agreement of a more general nature between the different countries of Europe.
"For several years past I have personally carried on propaganda
among a certain number of my colleagues representing European nations at the League of Nations with a view to a European organization," he told the Chamber. "I obtained a very great number of ad-hesions and quite recently some most important ones. Under circumstances I consider it a necessity to organize Europe, not against another country, not against other countries, but in the interests of peace to put an end to an anarchy
of potential conflicts which are a danger to peace. In this undertaking we seeked to found a European organization as a pledge of peace."

3 MORE DEATHS LAID TO REFRIGERATOR GAS

Chicago Coroner's Jury, However, Delays Verdict Pending Chemist's Report.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 17.—A Coroner's jury composed of professors of chemistry, physiology and hygiene, which met today to investigate the death of a family of three, adjourned awaiting reports from the Coroner's chemist. Gas leaking from an electric refrigerator system, was blamed by authorities for the death of Joseph Painter, 22 years old, his wife, Mary, 24, and their year-old baby, Joseph Jr., yesterday.

Meanwhile Dr. Arnold Kegel, City Health Commissioner, issued an order forbidding the use of methyl chloride gas as a refrigerant in Chicago.

The jury visited the apartment building where the Painters lived and on the door of an elevator found a poster, placed there by the manufacturers of the refrigerators used in the building. The poster denied methyl chloride gas caused the deaths. The poster was seized by Dr. Herman Bundeisen, Coroner, in spite of the protests of the owners of the building.

Bessie Dorsey, a maid, entered the Painter apartment late yesterday. The fumes of the gas almost overcame her. Police found it impossible to enter without covering their mouths and nostrils with water-soaked handkerchiefs.

The position of the bodies indicated that Mrs. Painter, perhaps realizing the impending danger, had tried to rise, but had been overcome. The gas is almost odorless, officials said, and the family was probably feeling ill upon retiring.

E. W. Kritzer, vice president of the company which manufactures the refrigerating system used in the building, hurried to the scene upon being informed of the accident by Bundeisen. He agreed to help eliminate the use of methyl chloride gas as a refrigerant.

Kritzer said that more than $500,000 had been invested here in methyl chloride refrigerating system, and that many small contractors, financially unable to make the change to another refrigerant, probably would be put out of business.

The refrigeration system is operated from a central plant which manufactures the gas in the basement and pumps it to the roof. From there it flows to the 40 individual units.

Two deaths here two weeks ago were laid to the same cause.

Starkloff Orders Investigation of Systems Here.

An investigation of mechanical refrigerating systems in St. Louis was ordered today by Dr. Max C. Starkloff, health commissioner, to guard against the possibility of fatal asphyxiations, such as have occurred in Chicago recently.

At a special conference of health department officials, attended by a refrigeration engineer, it was decided to obtain detailed information from Chicago authorities relative to the types of installations reported to have caused the fatalities on receipt of this information, requested in a telegram which Dr. Starkloff sent Dr. Arnold Kegel, Chicago Health Commissioner, an immediate survey of local refrigerating plants will be undertaken.

Dr. Starkloff stated that if the survey indicated that certain types of installations were detrimental to the health, he would brand them as "nuisances" and, if necessary, take action to avoid any duplication of the Chicago tragedies.

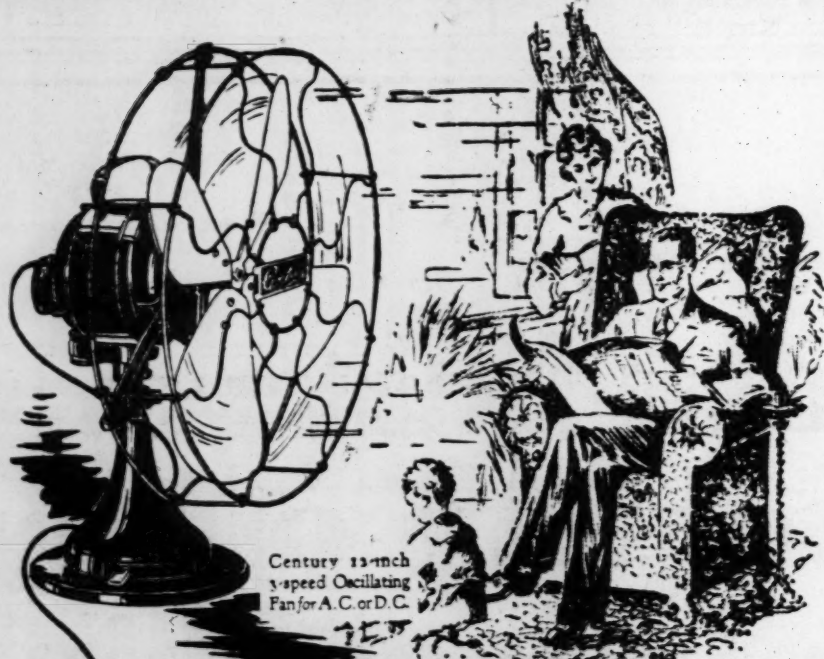

The City Charter, he pointed out, gives the Health Commissioner power to declare and abate nuisances. He indicated that he was prepared, if necessary, to order all mechanical refrigerators which might be found to be "nuisances" deprived of their refrigerant and forbid their distribution in the city.

Scores of telephone messages and personal calls have been received at the office of the Health Commissioner during the past two days, inquiring as to what constitutes safe and unsafe mechanical refrigeration.

Dr. Starkloff, after the conference, took steps to enlist the cooperation of the Building Commissioner's department in the survey.

A reply from Dr. Kegel, detailing the situation in Chicago, is expected to arrive by air mail tomorrow. The local investigation will begin as soon as the contents of the message have been studied.

Starkloff Orders Investigation of Systems Here.

An investigation of mechanical refrigerating systems in St. Louis was ordered today by Dr. Max C. Starkloff, health commissioner, to guard against the possibility of fatal asphyxiations, such as have occurred in Chicago recently.

At a special conference of health department officials, attended by a refrigeration engineer, it was decided to obtain detailed information from Chicago authorities relative to the types of installations reported to have caused the fatalities on receipt of this information, requested in a telegram which Dr. Starkloff sent Dr. Arnold Kegel, Chicago Health Commissioner, an immediate survey of local refrigerating plants will be undertaken.

Dr. Starkloff stated that if the survey indicated that certain types of installations were detrimental to the health, he would brand them as "nuisances" and, if necessary, take action to avoid any duplication of the Chicago tragedies.

The City Charter, he pointed out, gives the Health Commissioner power to declare and abate nuisances. He indicated that he was prepared, if necessary, to order all mechanical refrigerators which might be found to be "nuisances" deprived of their refrigerant and forbid their distribution in the city.

Scores of telephone messages and personal calls have been received at the office of the Health Commissioner during the past two days, inquiring as to what constitutes safe and unsafe mechanical refrigeration.

Dr. Starkloff, after the conference, took steps to enlist the cooperation of the Building Commissioner's department in the survey.

A reply from Dr. Kegel, detailing the situation in Chicago, is expected to arrive by air mail tomorrow. The local investigation will begin as soon as the contents of the message have been studied.

ROETZ IN GAME FOR TRYOUT ON BALL'S ORDERS

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 17.—The whispering campaign which hinted at friction between the business office and Manager Dan Howley of the Browns started buzzing again this afternoon when spectators noted that Eddie Roetz was back at short in place of Red Kress. It was Roetz's substitution for Kress on orders from President Ball of the Browns, during the team's last trip East, that caused the report that Manager Howley and the club's owners were at loggerheads.

Roetz made his bow in Kress' place here yesterday and was not exactly a scream. He failed to hit safely or to field in any unusual manner and there was some surprise expressed when he was used again today.

"There's nothing to it all," Owner Ball explained. "beyond the fact that I am going away and I wanted to see just how good Roetz is. He has been talked up and I wanted to get a good look at him. So I sent word to Dan to put him in the line-up for three days. Ferrell I included, although he has been used occasionally, because I wanted to see if he would not come along faster with regular work. That's all."

Manager Howley has been suffering added burdens for the past two days owing to the illness of Assistant Manager Bill Killefer, who has been confined to his room.

REFUSES TO DEPORT
FOR LIQUOR SELLING

U. S. Appeals Court Rules Dry
Law Violation Is Not Always Moral Turpitude.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch
NEW YORK, July 17.—Violation of the Volstead Act does not necessarily constitute moral turpitude—
the cause for deportation—the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled yesterday in freeing Bernard Lorio from Ellis Island,
where he was being held.
Lorio, who was born in Italy,
had visited this country several times, coming over the last time in 1927. Last January he was arrested in Gallup, N. M., for making false statements in his application for his visa. At the resulting hearing it was shown he had been convicted of violation of the prohibition law and he was ordered deported. It was the contention of the Government that since the Eighteenth Amendment was a moral law, violation of it constituted

moral turpitude.
"We do not regard every violation of the prohibition law as a crime involving moral turpitude," Judge Leonard Hand said. "No doubt it is the solemnly declared
policy of this country that liquor shall not be made or sold, but the standard set up (by the law governing exclusion of aliens) was purposely narrower than that."
"While we must not substitute
our personal notions as the standard of judgment, it is impossible to decide at all without some standard, necessarily based on conjecture as to what people generally feel. We cannot say that among the commonly accepted morals the sale of liquor as yet occupies so grave a place. Nor can we close our eyes to the fact that large numbers of persons otherwise reputable do not think so, rightly or wrongly."
Judge Hand's opinion was concurred in by his colleagues, Judge
Martin T. Manton and Thomas Swan.

PARIS, France, July 17.—The American Trans-Atlantic Airplane
Pathfinder, with Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams, landed at the Le Bourget flying field this afternoon from Rome.
The Pathfinder landed within a few yards of the spot where Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh finished his historic flight two years ago. The airmen were officially welcomed
by representatives of the French

Government and their French friends, Armand Lotti and Rene Lefevre.
Americans who greeted them included Maj. Charles R. Alley, assistant military attaché; Commander Hugh P. Leclair, assistant naval attaché, and Harold L. Williamson, second secretary at the United States Embassy, who represented Normal Armour, the châgé d'affaires.
They left the field with M. Lotti, whose guests they will be for a few days. The flyers, who had met at Old Orchard, Me., while both were waiting to take off on their flights, congratulated each other on the successes they attained.
The airmen announced this afternoon that they had given up their plan of going to London. Instead they will fly to Cherbourg tomorrow and sail for home on the Republic Friday.

ROME, Italy, July 17.—The American trans-Atlantic aviators, Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams, took off in their airplane,
the Pathfinder, for Paris at 8:15

day. They expected to reach Paris
in the early afternoon.
Their departure here was a week
after their arrival from Old Orchard, Me., with a forced stop at insisted upon pouring into its tanks.

DYNAMIC DAWES' BANGS THE TABLE, STARTLES LONDON

United States Ambassador Uses Outdoor Voice in Speech at Vintners' Luncheon.

PASSES LOVING CUP BUT DOES NOT DRINK

Appeals for "a Pact of Complete Friendship and Trust" Between England and America.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 17.—Ambassador Dawes is attracting as much attention here by the force of his oratorical manner as he did in Washington when, as newly inaugurated Vice President, he denounced the Senate for tugging itself in red tape. He surprised a gathering of British notables yesterday by the force of his method of expressing his ideas.

The occasion was a luncheon in Vintners' Hall, at which Dawes was the guest of the Travel Association of Great Britain and Ireland. The speech was an eloquent appeal for "a pact of complete friendship and trust" between the American and British Governments.

The Evening Standard later alluded to Dawes' method of speech-making which so surprised the English. The Standard's account of the luncheon is headed "Hell and Maria, Dynamic Gen. Dawes Startles London Audience." It continues:

"Banged Table With Fist. 'I have something to say,' said Dawes, banging the table with his fist. With a voice that would have gripped a large Trafalgar Square crowd and dynamic gestures rarely seen at a luncheon table, the Ambassador went on:

"What we want is a pact of complete friendship and trust. That is what I am trying to bring about. As I know my own business best, I am going to try it in my own way. During two years of war we came to know the English people and appreciate the self-sacrifice of the people and the English army. I trust that we shall be successful in bringing our two nations closer together.

"I do not know what the repercussions of this speech will be and as a business man I am going to take a chance on the repercussions. I want to get these great people in touch, not to help them to be friendly, but to prove they are friendly."

The very name of the Vintners' company means of drinking and the flowing bowl, and there were plenty of both at the luncheon. Dawes abstained from drinking, but he could not refrain from taking part in the ancient ceremony of passing a huge loving cup around the circle of guests.

Filled with specially brewed ale, a large cup was handed to Lord Derby, who presided. He turned to Dawes and drank the Ambassador's health with due ceremony.

Does Not Drink. The Ambassador then was supposed to turn and drink to the health of the guest on his left, who was Lord Riddell, London publisher. Dawes accepted the cup, raised it, and then passed it along.

Lord Derby in a speech later said he gathered from remarks he had heard that Dawes was going to introduce the loving cup ceremony among American Senators in Washington, the cup to be filled with the national beverage of the United States—water.

Lord Derby, a famous race horse owner, spoke of the ties that bind the United States and Britain, among which are sports. He said England had "taken many 'lickings' in sports from the United States with proper sporting spirit, and that incidentally England was ready to take over Bobby Jones and Helen Willis as British subjects. He thought with these two stars, perhaps, England could recover some of its lost golf and tennis titles.

Lord Derby paid tribute to Mrs. John D. Hertz for the sporting spirit she showed in bringing the famous Reigh Count to England and declared the result fully justified her faith in her horse. He remarked ruefully that he had been one of the victims since Reigh Count had beaten one of his horses. This was in the Ascot Gold Cup in which Reigh Count finished second and Lord Derby's Cri De Guerre was an also-ran.

SAYS AMERICANS ARE BUYING CONTROL OF BRITISH UTILITIES

Labor Organ, Daily Herald, Discloses Chicago Financiers Are Acquiring Electricity Concerns.

LONDON, July 17.—Labor's official organ, the Daily Herald, sounds an alarm against alleged buying up by Americans of British electrical interests. The Herald reports that a group of Chicago financiers, with the assistance of British banking interests, is acquiring control of electricity distributing concerns in the Midlands. Questions on the subject will be asked by Labor members of parliament.

Under the headline, "A red light," the Herald says editorially: "Encroaching control over British electricity by American financial interests is a matter demanding searching investigation if our own industrial and domestic consumers are to be adequately protected."

"Following on the recent disclosure that a utilities, power and light corporation of Chicago had acquired the whole of the capital of the Shropshire, Worcestershire and Staffordshire Electric Power Co. now comes the news that the same interests are about to secure control of another series of important electricity distributing concerns in the Midlands."

"Unless we are gravely mistaken we are in the midst of a gigantic maneuver to place in the hands of a well-nigh almighty trust the control of electrical distribution as the result of the long and unforfeitable delay in developing electricity. Great Britain has become a veritable Tom Tiddler's ground for speculators."

ARCHBISHOP TO LEAVE MEXICO: EXILE IS HINTED

Government Neither Confirms Nor Denies Report His Departure Is Required.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—Archbishop Francisco Orozco y Jimenez of Guadalajara will leave within three days for Rome, it was stated here today, to confer with Vatican officials. There were reports in private circles his stay abroad would be a long one.

The Archbishop remained in hiding in the mountains throughout the so-called "Cristero" rebellion, which he himself opposed. He recently participated in the armed movement.

The Government has made no statement in connection with the Bishop's departure. Current reports that the Government had stipulated he must leave the country as one of the provisions of the religious settlement have been neither confirmed nor denied.

DIRIGIBLE FLIGHT TO U. S. Planned for First Week in August, Says Eckener.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 17.—Dr. Hugo Eckener said yesterday that the next flight of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin to the United States has been planned for the first week in August—but that the date has not yet been fixed.

The attempt to pay a second visit to America last May ended in a thrilling experience in storms over France when four of the five motors failed. The ship was berthed safely, however, at Cuers, France, and with new motors reached its home hangar again.

12,908 DEPORTED IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A total of 12,908 persons were deported from the United States during the last fiscal year.

Immigration Commissioner Hull, in making this announcement today, said the principal reasons for deporting aliens were because they were criminals, had overstayed their time limit, or had become public charges.

Deportations numbered 11,625 in the year ending in 1928; 11,662 in 1927; 10,904 in 1926; 9405 in 1925 and 8409 in 1924.

Delegation of 99 Arrives There From Berlin.

MOSCOW, July 17.—An American delegation of 99 business men, lawyers, engineers and newspaper editors arrived here this morning from Berlin for a 30-day inspection tour in Russia.

Representatives of the Western Chamber of Commerce and Russian authorities greeted the delegates. Russian promoters of the trip hoped it may prove the forerunner of new and wider business relations between the United States and Russia. The party represents almost every state in the Union and includes 24 women.

U. S. FARM BOARD NOT YET READY TO CONSIDER LOANS

Says It First Will Determine Its Policy—Will Deal Only With Officers of Co-Operatives.

HOPES TO REDUCE HANDLING EXPENSE

Members of Hoover Committee to Meet July 29 at Baton Rouge, La.—Regional Hearings Later.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Federal Farm Board announced today that no loans would be made out of its $150,000,000 fund available, pending a determination of policy.

Of the $500,000,000 authorized by Congress for the use of the board $150,000,000 was appropriated and there are indications that many requests are already on hand for portions of the money.

Announcement also was made that when loans were made the board would deal only with officers of the co-operative marketing associations.

The announcement of the board read: "At present the Federal Farm Board is not in a position to give definite consideration to applications for loans. When the board has determined such principles of action as will permit it to give consideration to these applications, notice will be given through the press and to the co-operatives."

No Need to Hire Counsel.

"The board wishes to announce, in connection with this matter of loans to co-operative marketing associations, that it will deal only with officials of the co-operatives themselves and that no association need employ counsel or other special representatives in order to gain a full, complete and sympathetic hearing of its problems."

Reduction of the marketing costs of agricultural products will be sought by the Farm Board as a means of boosting the farmer's returns without adding a corresponding increase to the consumer's expenses.

To accomplish this objective, the board has set itself to the task of organizing the farmer's marketing facilities on a gigantic national scale, working all the time "with and through established groups of farmers who are organized or who may be organized on a basis of specific farm commodities."

To Attend Institute.

Declaration of this policy was given in a statement by the board with an announcement that the members would go to Baton Rouge, La., July 29, to attend the meeting of the American Institute of Co-operation, during which they expect to confer with national leaders in co-operative marketing.

The board's decision to work through the farm organizations in its drive for reduced marketing costs is expected to lead to many conferences with the agricultural leaders. Regional commodity meetings are planned "as soon as time will permit" in such sections as the need for them becomes apparent.

Chairman Legge is enthusiastic about the rise in wheat prices. He says it is justified by crop reports and weather conditions both at home and abroad. "Although I would like to take as much credit as possible for it for the board," he said.

The "psychological effect" of the establishment of the board, he believes, has helped.

Wheat Growers in Conflict.

In connection with the wheat situation, it became known that President Hoover is finding considerable difficulty in deciding on a member of the board to represent this commodity because of the difference of views in the industry.

There seems to be a sharp controversy between the wheat "pool" farmers and those who operate through co-operative agencies and the elevators. It may be two or three weeks, consequently, before the man is named.

The board already has received "many preliminary appeals from agricultural groups for action" and it was stated that "it is still more important, however, that whatever action be taken shall be in the right direction."

Co-Operation Planned.

"The board believes that its work," read the statement of the board, "as directed by law and by

MUSCLES IN MOTION MAKE NOISE LIKE GUNS

First Sound Record of Kind Made at Demonstration in London.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, July 17.—Talking machine records of human muscles at work were made here yesterday by Prof. E. D. Adrian and Joseph Bancroft of Cambridge University. Adrian was the subject of the experiment—the first of its kind ever made.

With long needles piercing the muscles of his arm Adrian knelt for nearly two hours in the Columbia Graphophone Studio, where the recording took place. From the needle ran a thin wire, which connected with the recording machinery in an adjoining room. So that Adrian could hear his own muscles working, another wire connected the recording apparatus with a loud speaker.

From the loud speaker came sharp metallic raps during the test. They were Adrian's muscle movements, magnified in sound 5000 times. As he moved his arm there came from the loud speaker a series of crackling raps resembling Morse code, and sometimes machine gun fire.

Steady Flow of Raps.

In the beginning of the experiment, Adrian produced a steady flow of light raps as he slowly contracted his arm muscles. Then he exercised the tendons gradually harder, at the same time gripping one hand with the other. As he did so the frequency of raps increased, and more than one series could be heard.

"That's another muscle fiber coming over," Adrian explained. The experiment is a sequel to the discovery that every muscle is a sort of electrical battery, sending out minute electric currents as it does its work.

"Although the discovery is not new," said Adrian, "it is only since the perfection of valve amplification that we have been able to demonstrate it, and this is the first time the discovery becomes of definite medical importance."

"In diagnosis of certain nerve muscle disorders we hope it will be of great value. Already it is being used in investigation of certain after-effects of sleeping sickness, which causes muscular twitching."

Muscle-Brain Co-ordination.

"By using the apparatus on the patient we may be able to discover the trouble. For example, if instead of hearing raps one gets a series of sharp volleys it would indicate that muscle fibers were not getting their messages from the brain in proper co-ordination. It

LONDON, July 17.—The Star, Liberal newspaper here, commenting on the New York World's recent editorial regarding the refusal of the British Government to permit Leon Trotsky, exiled Red chief, to enter this country, says:

"We see no reason for enthusiasm about the proposal to permit Trotsky to seek temporary asylum in this country. The best that can be said for it is that the right of asylum to political refugees is a fine tradition which Liberalism is more likely to honor than Labor."

PEIPING, July 17.—Dispatches from Mukden, Manchuria, to the Chinese newspaper, Shihfang, state that 20,000 Chinese troops have started northward. No other details were given.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, July 17.—Until an early hour today popular protests and demonstrations against the Chinese Government took place here despite announcement of receipt of a conciliatory communique from the Nanking Government.

Russians and Chinese expatriates stormed the Chinese Embassy throwing eggs, sticks and stones, and smashing window panes. Helmeted, heavily armed regiments of secret police, cavalry and infantry had a hard time to keep order.

These Chinese adopted the Russian slogans: "Down with the imperialists!" and "Down with the Chinese Fascists!"

Some of the demonstrators came to the Chinese Embassy from distant suburbs, dressed in black and scarlet singing revolutionary hymns and shouting defiance. Speakers exhorted them to a kind of fury. They included men and boys, young and old women and girls, pioneers, unarmed militia and soldiers.

The demonstration, which increased as night went on, caused a panic among the Embassy staff members of 20 or more who huddled together in one of the rooms.

Sia Wen-sun, the Chinese diplomatic representative, told the correspondent he had not left the Embassy for two days and had not slept for two nights, cabling message after message with the hope of some word which would relieve their suspense. He said he was never more glad to see a visitor.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

PRIVATE SECRETARY. By Alan Brewer Schultz. (Simon and Schuster.)

WHAT we have here in this novel designed for the languid trade of the dog days may be described scientifically, and also metaphorically, as a study in the superlatives of meteorology. A chapter. Those who may prefer to have their reading matter characterized in approved literary terms may call it an epic of the necking variety, or love among the lipsticks. Anyhow, it's the story of one Mary Lindon who lands a job as stenographer under Slim Jim Brown, the Big Business executive, and manages, in spite of a blonde rival's vamping operations, to extract a proposal from the big large printing. It contains 21 speeches, beginning with the address of acceptance at Albany and ending with the post-election radio address.

Do you remember how you used to feel when the Hon. Mr. Somebody-or-Other from the county seat had at last finished his Fourth of July oration and the band struck up Yankee Doodle? Apparently that is the way a desirable citizen is expected to feel after reading this volume.

CAMPAIGN ADDRESSES OF GOV. ALFRED E. SMITH. (The Democratic National Committee, Washington, D. C.)

Originally issued last January, this collection is now in its fourth large printing. It contains 21 speeches, beginning with the address of acceptance at Albany and ending with the post-election radio address.

PERILS OF THE SEA. By J. G. Lockhart. (Stokes.)

SEA WOLVES OF THE MEDITERRANEAN. By E. Hamilton Gurr. (Stokes.)

Here are two recent issues in the Nautilus Library, a series designed to include outstanding books of the sea. The first named contains detailed stories of 14 famous shipwrecks, beginning with the loss of "The White Ship" in 1120 and ending with the Titanic disaster in 1912. "Sea Wolves of the Mediterranean" tells the story of the Moslem corsairs and ends with the Battle of Lepanto. Aside from being works of genuine merit, both are of absorbing interest.

INFIDELS AND HERETICS. AN AGNOSTIC ANTHOLOGY. By Clarence Darrow and Wallace Rice. (Stratford.)

More than one hundred authors are represented in this anthology of verse and prose expressing man's perplexity and despair in the midst of the great mystery. The range in time is wide, reaching from the ancients to the moderns, from the complicity of the gods to the complicity of the gods. On one page we read the mournful and beautiful passage from the Book of Job, "Man born of woman—," and on another page we find Darrow's plea for the young murderers, Leopold and Loeb. Even Longfellow is drawn upon for an agnostic utterance—"The old world would probably scandalize the old fellow if he knew. There is a passage from Albert Bigelow Paine's Biography of Mark Twain, in which the famous humorist raves against "the damned old world" and expresses his utter weariness with the whole business of living. Great scientists and philosophers testify that all we can know is that we can know nothing.

It's a curious book, and it makes one wonder just how much a truly wise man would be likely to value such a collection of negations. Not that the truly wise man would claim to know any more about the cosmos and its purposes than these writers claimed to know. The ignorance would be granted, right enough; but it might be pointed out that men do not and can not live by negations. They live by affirmations, right or wrong; and an anthology of livable affirmations, of which there are many in world literature, would make a collection of this sort look the sorry thing it really is. Anyway, there are experiences in the lives of men and women that are more important to us than the fact that we lack absolute knowledge of anything. If there weren't, we couldn't live at all.

Out West Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

SOMEWHERE IN ARIZONA.

July 17.

ARIZONA has an undiminished majesty—the majesty of a Remington Indian gazing at the splendor of a rising sun. Its river beds are crackly dry holes, its cliffs stand sheer and bleak. Life seems squeezed out of the gritty and dusty. Yet the State is sublime in dignity. Some day Arizona will find a place in the sun and fulfill the scriptural prophecy—and the desert shall bloom like a rose. Already Phoenix has become a winter mecca. A magnificent hotel in the Billmore chain has opened there. Watch Phoenix! Watch Arizona! Watch out for the cable cars!

Flagstaff seems the most important town at which this train, appropriately called The Chief, hesitates. It has been filmed as the background of many movie "westerns" with its Bright Angel Cafe, Pete's Pool Parlor and such. You almost expect to see Bill Hart tear through shooting from both hips. People make themselves conspicuous on coast trains as well as in New York cafes, theaters and night clubs. At Flagstaff a high heeled flapper alighted to parade the platform wearing a bright red silk turban, a pair of those wide legged gobs pajamas and smoking a thin pipe. But it was too late at night to create a panic.

The Mojave, like all deserts, is mysterious and creeping. The desert rats say it whispers at night. We crossed it on a blistering day blood-hot eye. Scrubby patches of sage were almost snow white with coatings of white sand. Whorls of dust spiral upward with a sudden gust. Here and there a cattle skull, bleached ivory and glistening, stands out stark. Now and then a lean-to painted a bilious green. The desolation and waste are almost suffocating. A dead rattler flaps from the arm of a telegraph pole.

I am not exactly homesick, but from the heart of the desert I did send a telegram to the proprietor of my New York hotel reading:

Mrs. Arthur Doig, 5603 Washington terrace, will be hostess at a luncheon for nine guests Friday at the Shields Manor room in St. Louis County. Bridge will be played during the afternoon. Today Mrs. J. H. Lewis of Alton will give a similar affair at Shields Manor. The St. Louis endurance flyers from Lambert field pass over the team room frequently, affording the guests an interesting diversion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood Marshall will leave St. Louis today for Banff and Lake Louise, Alberta; and later, Vancouver, Seattle and Portland. In August they will go to California for a month at coast resorts, returning to St. Louis by way of the Grand Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall have just returned from Chicago, where they went following their marriage July 3.

The bride was Miss Catherine W. South, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. South of the Embassy apartments.

THE conventions are taboo in braving the devastating blast of the desert. Train windows are down as protection from sandstorms. Through the open compartment doors men sit about gazing in lower sections of pajamas. Ladies are clad only in light jackets and bloomers. But all this is no treat for a former Ziegfeld press agent used to watching rehearsals.

opportunity can best be done by working with and through established groups of farmers who are organized or who may be organized on a basis of specific farm commodities. The board believes that the larger the group and the more regional or national in its scope,
the better and more readily can assistance be given. It will,
therefore, be a part of the board's program to co-operate with such groups now existent and to assist,
so far as may be, in the development of such groups where necessary.

"Much has been said about the costs of distribution of farm products between producer and ultimate consumer, and about the possibility that returns to producers
may be increased without any corresponding increase in price to the ultimate consumer. The board firmly believes that in many instances this is possible through the development of widespread farmer
groups for co-operative marketing,
through greater efficiency in management of co-operative institutions and through more direct avenues of trade between producer and consumer than are now found to exist in many farm commodities.

May Control Surpluses.
"The board further believes that
a thorough organization of agriculture for marketing purposes will put producers in a much better position than they now are to control the appearance of surpluses
at their source, and that this angle of approach to the so-called 'surplus problem' is worth serious consideration.

"The board intends to develop direct contracts with the co-operative marketing groups of America
at the earliest possible moment for the purpose, first, of acquainting
the members of the board themselves with the specific problems of specific commodities in various regions, and, second, for the purpose of acquainting the co-operative groups themselves with the members of the board and their official powers and limitations."

CHINESE EMBASSY WINDOWS BROKEN BY MOSCOW MOBS

sian news source, issued the following statement: "Friends of peace breathed free when the Chinese diplomatic representative here submitted to the Foreign Office a conciliatory communique from Nan-
king, saying:

"Although the entire cable containing the soviet protest demanding a reply by a given date has not been received its main idea is already understood. Our Government ordinarily maintains peaceful relations with soviet union and, although the Harbin incidents necessitated taking measures regarding the Chinese Eastern railway, these cannot affect existing relations between the two countries.

Russia Not to Reply.
"Ambassador Chu Zao-yang
soon will return to his post. In our opinion all problems must be solved on the basis of existing agreements and thrashed out at the conference. Under such conditions the question will be solved easily."

The communique ended by declaring the Nanking Government would reply to the Russian note immediately after the full text was received.

Tass simultaneously published a statement that the Soviet Government did not intend to reply to the Chinese communique, but would await the actual reply to its ultimatum of July 12.

Three Salient Points in China's Reply to Ultimatum.

By the Associated Press.
NANKING, China, July 17.—
China's Nationalist Government has replied to Soviet Russia's ultimatum growing out of Manchurian seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway, the Nanking Government's answer being dispatched just within the three-day limit set by Moscow.

The Nanking note, after seeking to justify events in Manchuria,
contained three salient points:

- (1) That Nanking "very soon"
will send Chu Zao-yang, former Ambassador at Moscow who is now in Nanking, to Moscow to discuss matters pending between the two governments.
- (2) A demand—which it was emphasized was not a counter demand that the Soviet release all Chinese imprisoned in Russia.
- (3) A similar demand that the Moscow Government protect adequately Chinese Nationalists in Russia from aggression and repression.

15,000 Men Mobilized.
Almost coincidentally with dispatch of the reply it was disclosed that 15,000 Manchurian troops had been mobilized within the last 48 hours at strategic positions on the border, principally at Manchouli,
the terminus of the Chinese Eastern railway.

In justifying seizure of the Chin-

note declared that they and Russia had not abided by the agreement of 1924 fixing the relationship of the two countries with regard to the railroad, and that the actions taken were necessary to preserve order in Manchuria.

The charge was made that soviet agents in Manchuria, had spread Communist propaganda, so as to endanger the Chinese Government and its social system.

The Nanking note was a reply to night, the last of which was received in Nanking by President Chiang Kai-shek yesterday morning. Moscow demanded release of arrested Russians, cancellation of affecting the two countries to

CITIZEN SOLDIERS GET PAY FOR TRIP TO CAMP

Receive 5 Cents a Mile—Canteens at Barracks Do Thriving Business.

Student soldiers at Jefferson Barracks were reimbursed Tuesday for expenditures, hypothetical or real, in traveling from their homes to the summer training camp. The Government allowance is 5 cents a mile. Students from St. Louis, some of whom received about 65 cents, gazed enviously on the vouchers of youths from Arkansas and more distant places who were paid from $15 to $25.

Many of the soldiers walked or were taken to the barracks by parents. In such cases, the travel money was "velvet." The canteens yesterday were crowded. A thriving business was done in cigarettes, chocolate bars and soda water.

Student soldiers receive no pay for their month of training. The Government pays their ways only to and from the camp.

The second dance of the season, under auspices of the Red Cross, was held Tuesday night. More than 200 young women, employed by the Missouri Pacific Railroad, danced with the soldiers.

Last night a second boxing program of five bouts was held at the camp arena. There were four wrestling matches. Tuesday afternoon about 850 soldiers, under their regular officers, watched the Browns' loss to Boston at Sportsman's Park.

Day by day the student soldiers grow accustomed to their routine. The first two nights of the camp there was much loud talking, singing and even shouting in the tents. But at 9 o'clock the rule, "lights out and no talking," is now scrupulously observed. The boys confess weariness after a crowded day of 15 hours and a half.

HOLDS SLAYING JUSTIFIABLE
Coroner's Jury Exonerates Wife Who Killed Webb City Ex-cyclops.

By the Associated Press.

WEBB CITY, Mo., July 17.—A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a coroner's jury at an inquest here last night into the death of Pierre M. Wallace, 42 years old, a former cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan, who was shot and killed by his wife at their home Monday.

Mrs. Wallace waived preliminary hearing and was released on $10,000 bond. Russell Mallet, Prosecuting Attorney, said the coroner's verdict would have no bearing on the criminal case. The chief witness at the inquest was Billy Wallace, 17, a son, who testified that his father had threatened to "beat me to death," following which his mother obtained a revolver and shot her husband. Mrs. Wallace did not testify.

Careful, Mother! When your baby's fretful, feverish, don't give him something intended for grown-ups! There's no use when you can get Fletcher's Castoria—the pure vegetable, pleasant tasting preparation doctors recommend for babies—which millions of mothers know is safe.

Give Fletcher's Castoria at the first sign something's wrong. See how quickly it will comfort a restless, crying youngster. When Baby has caught cold, it keeps the little bowels from clogging. It quickly relieves colic, gas, diarrhea, constipation, etc., in babies—and older children, too. Keep on with it until your child is grown. Bigger appetite, better digestion, more perfect elimination will surely reward this sensible care. Be sure you get genuine Castoria. Look for the Fletcher signature on the wrapper.

30 TO 40 POINTS

I am bullish on a seasoned common stock which, before next February, I predict 30 to 40 points advance.

Last year in this issue I operated very large aggregate profits for my clients.

Margin requirements forty dollars per share and this provides 60% safety factor beyond broker's requirement.

I will discuss possibilities with men willing to employ $10,000.00 maintained in their own names.

I specialize exclusively in conservative operations in common stocks listed on Exchanges for individuals who desire to make productive use of capital.

On request will mail booklet, "How Fast Should Money Grow?"

Henry R. Davis has been elected vice president of the Curtis Clothing Co., in charge of sales. It was announced by S. H. Curlee, president. Members of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange will vote July 20 on question whether or not to amend the rule of the exchange permitting non-resident visitors the privilege of the trading floor. SANDALS MADE FROM PLANT LIKE PINEAPPLE

Fiber of Pita, Specimen of Which Is Growing at Shaw's Garden, Used in Colombia.

A growing pineapple is attracting much interest at Shaw's Garden this week, not only to itself but to all its quaint relatives, which range from a pink flask to a widely-used stuffing for mattresses. And one of the quaintest things about the family is that this pineapple is not a pineapple at all, but its twin brother. The twin's product is not something to eat, but something to wear—alpargatas (like sandals) in which native Colombians paddle about the swampland lowlands and thread the trails of the Andes.

Another curious thing is that the real pineapple belongs to a family of epiphytes or "air plants." Botanists call it the bromeliad family. Sometimes a pineapple in the tropics is found growing on a rock with little for it to live on but air and scenery.

The fruit which looks exactly like a pineapple but is too fibrous for food distracts the attention of most visitors from the only real pineapple on display in the Bromeliad House, adjoining the Orchid House. The real article can scarcely be seen under the spreading three-foot leaves of its twin, which was labeled today to end its masquerade. The pineapple is a young plant, with smooth, slender green leaves, and just now it looks very much like a bunch of coarse marsh grass.

The false pineapple's leaves have spikes like a swordfish, curved to catch the visitors going and coming, since they point outward near the end of the leaves and inward near the base.

How Fibers Are Obtained. From these leaves of the pita, as the Colombians call it, are first cut and then combed the fibers from which they make sackings, baskets and footgear. The alpargatas resemble oriental sandals with the addition of an ankle-strap at the heel. Although the pita grows only in lowlands, Supt. Pring has seen the sandals in use in the Andes, far from the lowlands, up to an altitude of 5000 feet.

All about the twins are their one-pint cousins, the tank epiphytes. They have broader leaves, less than a foot long, branching off in rosettes from a rounded base which makes an excellent tank to catch tropical rains and heavy dews.

"And if you want to get angry," remarked Supt. Pring, "just climb a hundred-foot tree for an orchid and bump into one of these things, waiting there to dump a pint of water over you. There is a giant variety that holds five gallons."

Exquisite flowers are borne by some of the tank air plants. They may be seen in a hyacinth blue springing up from the tank on red bracts as vivid, though not so deep a scarlet, as the bracts of poinsettias. Even after the flowers have passed, the brightly colored seed surrounded by the bracts are scarcely less attractive.

Other Varieties. They are popularized also by their foliage. The zebra varieties are barred with brown. A rose variety has the appearance of a brilliant red in the tropical sun.

Some of the smaller variety called cryptanthus are crinkled and fringed.

"They are an excellent plant for a fern dish," remarked Supt. Pring. "The only difficulty is, they're so rare you can't get them."

"These," he continued, indicating some tiny cousins, "are almost the babies of the family. They are one variety of tillandsia moss. In Jamaica I saw a street car trouble wagon assigned to cleaning them off the support wires. Trolleys brush them off the live wires, but, if left alone, the weight of hundreds of them would break the wire supports."

Overhead is the graceful baby of the family. It is another tillandsia, Spanish moss, which is used for stuffing mattresses. The long gray beards of Spanish moss on Southern trees are built up by colonies of inch-long, thread-like plants, as the coral fan is built up by a colony of minute animals.

PACKET TOM GREENE WINS OHIO RIVER RACE

Defeats Betsy Ann by 10 Feet
in 20-Mile Run From Cincinnati.

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, O., July 17.—The packet Tom Greene defeated the packet Betsy Ann by a scant 10 feet in a race to New Richmond, O., 20 miles up the Ohio River from Cincinnati, last night.

On even terms from the start at 5:12 p. m., the stern wheelers strained to the last ounce of steam against the five-mile current.

Twenty feet apart the two boats fought, neither ever more than a quarter length in the lead, to the finish at 7:33 p. m., two hours and 21 minutes after the start.

Tom Greene, 25 years old, of a long line of rivermen, commanded the boat bearing his name. Frederick Way Jr., 38, was in charge of the Betsy Ann. The Betsy Ann permanently lost a set of golden antlers, emblematic of a former championship of the Mississippi River, and the Tom Greene won a loving cup offered by merchants of New Richmond. The antlers are in the possession of the Greene Lines, Cincinnati.

As in the days when an important race meant a holiday in the valley, river folk turned out for the modern event in the spirit, if not the appearance, of former crowds. Thousands lined the stream on both sides, others followed the race in automobiles along river roads, some rode through the wake of the craft in motor boats, and overhead three airplanes carried the most modern spectators of packet racing.

There was color and noise in profusion at the start. A allotype set up a din which was heightened by the blasts of boat whistles as the racers maneuvered into position. Heard above all others was the whistle of the Tom Greene itself.

A cannon on the deck of the Tom Greene gave the signal for the start. The finish was so close that the outcome was in doubt until the official decision was given.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

SYNOPSIS: Love—thwarted once again by cruel misunderstanding! Sir Richard rides to an appointment in the night with Gregory, who brings him money. With Gregory, to Richard's surprise, is Helen D'Arcy. Richard ignores her impassioned pleas for an explanation of his flight, until, finally becoming enraged, he coldly blurts out his cruel conclusion—that she killed Julian and placed Richard's ring beside the body, where he found it, to fix guilt for the crime on him. Incensed to hysterical distraction by his false inferences, Helen strikes him a vicious blow in the face with her riding-crop.

CHAPTER XXI. ANOTHER RING.

SIR RICHARD, strangely silenced by the vicious blow of Helen's whip, sat motionless and grim. They faced each other a while, she panting and desperate. "Oh!" cried she. "Richard Guyford, how infinitely I despise you! Gregory, take me back home!"

Sir Richard dismounted and, picking up his hat, stood listening; he heard Gregory's voice, her murmurous answer, the leafy rustling of them as they rode away. Sir Richard laughed, somewhat ruefully, and, finding the hat in his fist, clapped it on, swung to saddle and rode his solitary way. But he had gone no great distance when, moved by some sudden thought, he checked Caesar, all at once, and turning, cantered in the opposite direction.

Back rode he by familiar ways until presently his sharp ear caught the jingle of a bit, with a murmur of voices; therefore he dismounted and stooped forward in the shadow of high hedge.

"Ah, Gregory," sighed his lady, "this hateful world!"

Gregory sighed sympathetically, and held his peace, wherefore she questioned him immediately:

"You think the detestable monster hath found secure haven in the woods?"

"No, I—ah, no, my poor heart was too full of his cruel injustice, his base suspicions . . . and yet should this abhorred wretch be taken or some to any harm. I think 'twould break my heart. So I pray God be his sure defense now and always . . . and so dear friend, goodnight!"

"Didst warn him, Gregory—of these law-officers from London?"

"Alas, no, madam. I had small chance for word with him. You spoke him of this, I hope?"

"Not I—ah, no, my poor heart was too full of his cruel injustice, his base suspicions . . . and yet should this abhorred wretch be taken or some to any harm. I think 'twould break my heart. So I pray God be his sure defense now and always . . . and so dear friend, goodnight!"

OFF came Gregory's hat and he stooped to the hand she reached out to him, kissed it reverently and thereafter sat bareheaded to watch her safely indoors. Even then he remained staring at the house until—the hedge rustled behind him, and starting round, he reached for his pistol-holster as a masked man stepped into the moonlight.

"All's well!" said a familiar voice, and Sir Richard smiled up at him. "Yonder went rare creature, Greg, and—prayed for me—wep! Ha, 'tis sweet, good world!"

"But, sir . . . there he men from London to hunt ye down."

"Ay, I know, Greg man. I know. But—she prayed for me, and sure such prayers cannot but be answered. Howbeit, I'm come home again, old lad."

Now as they went, Sir Richard looked up at Gregory, riding so gravely beside him.

"Ha, Greg," he said, clapping him on the knee. "I would seem I misjudged her—wherefore she vows me hateful, scorns and condemns me, and very naturally, Greg. Wherefore, unless they hang me, I am determined to follow your advice and make her my wife, heaven help her!"

"And, sir, I dare to suggest she favors you."

"Yes, she hath already whipped me."

"Wh—whipped you?" repeated Gregory in shocked voice.

"Heartily, Greg. The which doth argue her not altogether insensible; nay I protest it promiseth well. Faith, 'twill be a right merry wooing."

"So they presently reached the village where none stirred and no light beamed. "A pretty place, Greg," sighed Sir Richard. "And yet here, at this moment, sheltered 'neath one of these familiar roofs, lie they, few or many, that plot my ruin, though who or why, is beyond my guessing; thus here will I hide."

"Here, sir?" demanded Gregory, starting.

"Or hereabout. Tomorrow is the inquest on poor Julian, and I shall assuredly be pronounced the murderer, so here needs must I be."

"Nay, sir, 'twere wanton risk! There are these police from London. The whole place is watched for you."

"Well, I shall be safer here under their very noses; here must I bide."

"Sir," said Gregory in pleading tones. "Oh, Master Richard, never venture yourself hereabouts, I do entreat."

Now Sir Richard, perceiving his passionate anxiety, squeezed him in long arm.

"Greg," quoth he, "good, my friend, grieve not thyself for me, for did not she pray for me? Howbeit, hereabouts goeth the murderer of Julian . . . poor Julian that died even as I found him and, dying, gasped out strange warnings."

"Say, by heaven, with his last breath spake mighty strange thing, Greg, a thing hath sore puzzled me."

"What, sir—what said he?"

"Ware, Dick," he gasped, "ware, Dick—a cat's-eye!"

SIR RICHARD checked himself with hissing intake of breath, and turning swiftly to stare at Gregory, found Gregory staring at him, and gazing thus on each other, wide-eyed, were silent a while; when at last Sir Richard spoke it was in a hoarse and broken whisper:

"Greg, he . . . he was not raving then! He had been shot from the bushes . . . he had seen! A hand 'mid the leaves . . . the cat's-eye ring! . . . You saw it also, Gregory—where?"

"Sir," whispered Gregory, "I saw it . . . on—her finger. But, sir, she may have lost it later."

"Or had it stolen from her, Greg, like mine—like mine. Ha, the devil! So here's another ring, then! Two of 'em! . . . And Julian died trying to tell me—what?"

Sir Richard stared up at the moon. "And yet . . ." he muttered after some while, "killing may . . . be no murder . . . sometimes. It may be justifiable."

Then, all at once, he was off his horse and had thrust the reins into Gregory's lax fingers.

"Howbeit, Greg," quoth he, "I wed her . . . cat's-eye or no! Take now my Caesar, away with him to Fallowdene or hide him where ye will, and be ready to ride to open to my ghostly rapping. Should you not see me awhile, Landford John shall give you word of me, and so—farewell!"

Shaking troubled head, Gregory sighed again and rode off; once or twice he turned to wave his hand to that desolate, solitary figure upon the green, but Sir Richard never heeded, since his head at length he strode toward the Guyford Arms, crossed to a certain shadowy corner where, deep in the angle, was that small door which seemed to hide from chance espial.

Drawing key from inner pocket, he stood suddenly motionless and rigid, for his sharp ears had caught a stealthy sound hard by, his quick eyes beheld a shadow that moved amid the shadows on the opposite side of the wide yard. Sir Richard turned, and, moving on soundless feet, followed grimly in pursuit, his face a once more hidden beneath black half-mask.

A fitting shadow that leads to a delightful conclusion. Continue the story tomorrow.

Sophisticated Summer Sports Clothes in Paris

Note the clever under-arm seams in this tennis coat of coarse white serge. It is lined with a flag square in red, white and blue that repeats the colors of the loosely knotted scarf.

Bluish gray tweed forms this suit for traveling or golf with cleverly inset seams in the sides of the skirt. The shirtwaist is of striped tulle de sole which matches the lining of the chic short jacket.

Striped tulle de sole in yellow, beige and gray is used for this smart little frock with the stripes arranged in contrasting directions. The plain yellow jacket is lined to match the dress and scarf.

This is one of the most popular of printed linen frock models in green on a beige ground. The dress is trimmed with applications of plain linen and the plain coat is lined with printed linen.

A whiteshanting tennis dress is accompanied by a jacket of vivid red and finished with an original gros grain ribbon belt with knots passing through rings.

Tendency of the French Dressmakers Is to Simplify All Designs But Still Make Allowances for Variety.

By Rose Taylor and George FitzGeorge

PARIS, July 3.

THE treatment of sports clothes in Paris has become almost a science now that we have definitely come to a point when it is generally recognized that certain standardized formulas must be followed in the creation of all sophisticated sports clothes.

The tendency is to simplify dresses and coats for all simple occasions. But you must have variety. This is where the invention of the professional dress designer comes into play.

Even materials should be simpler for sports clothes than they are for the sort of morning simplicity that is come in the morning for city wear in London, Paris or New York. Cloth is replaced by jersey or tweed. Printed crepe de chine gives way to shirting silks and flowered, washing linens.

Plain crepe de chine is now less smart than coarse shantung and toile de soie.

Morning dresses for the plage, the golf course or the tennis courts must be as carefully planned, the ensemble of color scheme and accompanying accessories as much in harmony as in our more elaborate afternoon or evening gowns. Apart from the choice of material, there is an element of chic and elegance in which it is used. Each seam has its special meaning and reason d'être. Incrustations of material running in different directions of the weave play an important role, for they introduce the element of clever workmanship which the chic woman seeks when she buys high class sports clothes from a well-known house.

SOPHISTICATED lines and clever seams and incrustations used in the plainest materials will give an element of chic and elegance to the simplest models. This is what we are all striving to achieve, and how London Trades interprets this ideal will be shown by the sketches that are reproduced on this page.

Too many colors, trimmings and details create an ensemble that either calls for adverse criticism or passes unnoticed, while intelligent elimination of the highest order spells chic and good taste and calls for the sort of approval that is usually expressed in emulation—surely the sincerest form of flattery.

At a period when woman rightly takes the problem of dress very seriously, considering the important item it covers in her budget, it may be of interest to state clearly a few of the rights and wrongs of sports clothes as we understand them.

WE APPROVE Economy in trimmings. Subtlety in seams. Slim hip yokes. The unexpected line. Shantung, shirtings and sleeveless sweaters.

WE CONDEMN A button without a reason. An unfinished line. Ties cut straight at the ends. Thick hem in tweeds. Dressy fabrics for simple occasions.

These may seem very self evident facts to any woman of good taste. But it is remarkable how often one has to repeat absolutely classic rules even to women who habitually dress well, and to premieres and trained work girls who have passed their lives in dressmaking ateliers.

THE leading chic of this summer's sophisticated sports clothes is the predominance of the washing frock. This may be of linen, shirting silk, shantung or toile de soie. You need not necessarily send it to the wash, for it will look better if it visits the cleaner, but the washing frock as we understand it means the frock that could be washed if you wished, and that will not spoil or shrink when exposed to rain.

There is something essentially clean about the tub frock, and cleanliness is the chief characteristic to be sought after in the designing of a summer sports wardrobe. To be attractive in summer frocks you must have a crisp and freshly tubbed appearance. That is why we have chosen so many of these practical washing fabrics, for their non-stretchable quality makes them very successful in the modern treatment of sports clothes which involves many seams. They absolutely eliminate that appearance of sagging which immediately destroys the chic of the most perfectly conceived sports frock that is carried out in the wrong material.

Nothing is smarter for summer wear, especially for resorts, than white. It always looks chic when it returns from the cleaner, no matter how often you have worn it. It permits the widest choice of accessories and contrasting colors.

One sleeveless white shirting frock may have as many different colored short jackets, scarves, belts and bags as you choose. For this season I should suggest first yellow and red, and you can further ring the changes with blue and green if these shades become you.

We like linens, shirting silks and toile de soie for country summer sports clothes because they have that essentially country look that is the secret of being well dressed when one is out of town. Never try to look as if you wanted to be dressed in a way that would be equally suitable in town or country, for it simply cannot be done. You might at a pinch, wear country washing frocks in town on a very hot morning in the dog days, when some tiresome continuing tears you away from green golf links and golden sands, but never think you can get away with your simpler town clothes in the country, for we can assure you there will always be a subtle something about them that will make you look wrong, however chic they looked for your morning walk in Hyde Park, the Bois de Boulogne or Central Park.

However many changes in the way of pretty and bright colored jackets and even semi-three-quarter coats you may indulge in, it is always wise to include one long warm white overcoat such as the one that illustrates this article. You need this for the moment when your good nature makes you consent to act as umpire at a tennis match. You require it for your drive in an open car to and from the plage on many days. It looks summery and attractive even if you wear it over your light colored shirting silk frocks. It has that country quality that must be the keynote of your holiday wardrobe if you intend to be really chic.

ACCESSORIES are either an asset or a pitfall where sports clothes are concerned. A scarf may be charming in itself, but may ruin an effect if it is not tied and arranged in a manner that is chic and individual. Some women get a reputation for being well dressed simply because they have the knack of tying just any piece of crepe de chine round their necks in a manner that all other women want to emulate, but just cannot achieve.

Also remember that the more accessories you have the more carefully you must choose and assemble them. The manufacturers are making your life easy by producing scarves, belts and bags that all match which makes it possible to avoid mistakes without any effort. In some cases we are making bags of the same material as the dress or coat. When you choose these you must be on your guard when you vary your scarf and belt. Such details sound trivial, but when they are well chosen the effect is so chic and sophisticated that you are amply rewarded for the trouble you have taken.

How to Guide A Little Child

By Agnes Lyne

HIS OWN PLACE

THE child lives in a house without thought of him. The lamp and rug, the vase of flowers, the picture on the wall, the child who dominates his daily life.

The following instance is taken of what a child of 18 months Lucy at the age of 18 months just learned to walk. When day brought new and strange experiences into her life, it was also new and devastating to her.

As long as Lucy's world had been limited by her play pen she never gotten into trouble. When she broke down, she pulled herself up from the floor clutching the portiere with her fingers, she was severely punished. When the course of her activities she broke down, she pulled herself up from the floor clutching the portiere with her fingers, she was severely punished.

In all her troubles and constructive activity Lucy's problem is easy to see. If possible she should be given room of her own whose walls and floors can be washed. There should be rugs that can be sent to laundry. There should be a box to hold the toys. The few pieces of furniture should be easily moved aside to make room for play. Toys, boxes, old spoons and the like things that find their way into the waste basket can first be used by the child to meet the urge to do apart, to find out, to make a do.

Do not start on your own with bad looking luggage. Bags to the shoe cleaner is cleaned and polished. He will pair slight tears and scratches they will be invisible. When the dies and straps can be replaced most shops where luggage is sold.

Will you please be kind enough to tell me if it will be proper for me to use my card with the word "Regrets" written under my name as it will be impossible for me to attend?

No, it is not correct to send an acknowledgment of this kind. For acknowledging an invitation written on a visiting card, we write our reply on letter paper, and formally, in the third person. Like this:

MISS MARY COGSWELL
Regrets that she is unable to accept.

Mrs. John Joseph Smith's kind invitation to luncheon on Thursday, the tenth of July.

THE other evening I was out with a young man and four other friends. We went to a cafe for a late supper, and when we all decided to leave, my friend told me with my coat and then immediately left the cafe without me. I stopped to talk a minute with one of the other members of our party and then followed my escort. By the time I got outside he had walked to the machine—which was a block away, leaving me to walk back with the others. Naturally I considered it very rude and told him so, but he insists that it is the place of the lady to go immediately with her escort when he is ready to leave, and I insist that it is the place of the escort to wait until the lady has escorted him ready to leave. Will you please settle this argument. M. G.

You are entirely correct in your point of view on this rude conduct of your escort. He is certainly an autocrat and needs a few pointers about gallantry.

ETIQUETTE

WEDDING INVITATION.

WILL you kindly let me know the correct procedure in the following? A whose father is not living, claims it is correct to have her wedding invitations sent out in her mother's informal name, that is "Mrs. Mary Brown, regents and so forth."

"Mrs. John Brown," instead of "Mrs. John Brown," is correct. Irrespective of whether or not Mr. Brown is living? It claims that the name "Mrs. John Brown" must always be used as it is the right title for a married woman, even though she is a widow. Is this right?

2. Is it right when she says her mother's name ceased to be "Mrs. John Brown" when her husband died, and she became "Mrs. Mary Brown?"

3. A young lady who will be married soon intends having a formal church wedding, but for a special reason, her father, who will be present, cannot walk up the aisle with her and give her away. Will it be all right for her to walk up the aisle alone in back of the bridesmaid, or must she have some male relative give her away? C. E. C.

1. B is correct. It is very important that a widow send out her daughter's wedding invitations in her formal name, and that formal name is just the same as when her husband was living. "Mrs. John Brown" requests the honor of your presence, etc.

2. No. The widow uses the same form of her name that she used when her husband was living. For instance, her visiting cards should read: "Mrs. John Brown," and all letters to her should be addressed with this formal name.

3. She may do as she wishes. It is correct for her to walk up the aisle alone, if she wishes, or, as is usual, she may invite some male relative or very close man friend of the family to walk up the aisle with her. This is for her to decide.

Also, if her father is able to step from the first pew, she may have a male relative accompany her up the aisle, and then, when the clergyman says, "Who giveth this woman to be married?" she may have her father step forward and present her in marriage.

In the Market Place

Ask the butcher to cut off the rib and from the rib roast of beef you select. It will make a good soup, while if left on and roasted with the meat it will be largely wasted.

Choose medium-sized carrots that are crisp when broken and feel firm to the touch. Leaves should be fresh and green. Buy fresh carrots in bunches, those sold by the pound are cold storage carrots—buy the smaller ones.

Select radishes that are small and crisp, and the leaves should be fresh.

Select fruits and vegetables yourself, and remember it is quite important that these be fresh.

Select veal for your dinner—it is at its best during May and June. For a roast ask for the loin, and if you prefer the tasty breast, ask the butcher to put in a pocket, then fill this with a bread dressing.

The Finer Pieces.

When laundering many small, fine articles, place them in a pillowcase before putting them in the washing machine. Then there will be no danger of tearing them when washed about.

Federal Reserve Board Announces Accommodations to Brokers and Dealers Total $5,813,000,000.

STOCKS IRREGULAR
AWAITING REPORT

Trading Off—Long List of 1 to 6 Point Gains Offset by Number of 1 to 5 Point Losses.

NEW YORK, July 18. — Call money dropped from 8 to 7 per cent today, commodity prices declined on profit-taking after their recent sharp advance and stock prices moved in an irregular manner as traders readjusted their positions, pending publication of the weekly Federal Reserve statement. Trading in stocks fell off rather sharply, final quotations showing a long list of 1 to 6 point gains offset by a number of 1 to 5 point declines.

Loans at New High.
Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve Member Banks for the week ending July 17 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $58,000,000, representing an increase of $5,813,000 over the preceding week and establishing a new high record.

Analysis of the report shows loans for own account decreased $45,000,000, while loans for account of out-of-town banks increased $52,000,000 and loans for account of others rose $72,000,000. The former high record of $52,500,000 was established last March 20.

A brief outburst of buying in the steel shares in the late trading, based on publication of excellent quarterly reports by some of the large independents and unconfirmed rumors of a 2-for-1 stock split-up in U. S. Steel later in the month, was checked by realizing U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem, Colorado Fuel, Republic Steel and several others closed with net gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York made no announcement today on its rediscount rate. This was interpreted as meaning continuance of the present five per cent rate.

Johns-Manville Feature.
Johns-Manville and H. H. Macy, showing net gains of 5 1/2 and 5 points, respectively, featured the active specialty shares. Vulcan Dynamite, which ordinarily declines hands in new high at 12 1/2 and the "A" stock jumped 10 points to a new top at 110.

The threat of a military crash in the Far East and the closing of Federal Reserve banks were regarded as adverse stock market factors. Several more favorable earnings reports made their appearance during the day, and the United Aircraft Corporation announced the acquisition of the Sikorsky concern.

Selling in Rails.
Railroad shares, which recently enjoyed an outburst of strength, ran into some rather heavy selling. Atchafalaya, for instance, crossed 258 to a new high, dropped to 255 1/2 and then rallied above 256 for a net loss of more than 2 points. Atlantic Coast Line, Boston & Maine, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, Great Northern preferred, Illinois Central, "Katy," Pere Marquette and Southern Railway all showed net declines of 2 to nearly 4 points, and several others yielded a point or more.

Several points of strength developed in the public utility group. United Corporation ran up more than 3 points to 21 1/2, and closed near the top. Abtill Power, Public Service of New Jersey, Radio and several others showed net gains of 2 points or more.

Wheat dropped about 4 cents a bushel. Corn dropped about 2 cents a bushel. The decline in cotton was held to less than 20 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits, with a moderate advance in the Canadian dollars as the feature.

Publication of an excellent quarterly report by the Republic Steel Co. held out high hopes of unsatisfactory statements by the Bethlehem and United States Steel Corporations.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on Page 27, 28.
